300-FOOT BRICK BUILDING IS PLANNED FOR THE FAIR GROUNDS

Will be 100 Feet Wide and Will Need for Substantial Structure in Which to Hold Variety of Big Events—Not to Interfere With Ball Grounds.

The directors of the Kingston Fair Grounds Inc., have for the past few days held numerous meetings and conferences in reference to financing the creation of a suitable building at least 300 feet long 100 feet wide on the Kingston Fair Grounds at the head of North Front street to be known as the Kingston Exposition Building.

A liberal contract is being circulated among merchants and manufacturers and has been received with such favorable support that the work is almost certain to be started late this fall or early next spring in time to have the building complete before July first, 1923. The plans call for a building large enough to accommodate any event and it could be rented for numerous purposes.

The exposition being held now under canvas at the Fair Grounds has been so successful and met with such support and approval of the merchants and manufacturers that Kingston is almost assured of an annual event of similar nature.

Plans prepared by Architect Betz call for a brick building to be erected on the grounds near the site of the present tent being occupied by the automobile show and will in no way interfere with the baseball diamond. The corporation owns a total of about 23 acres, only a small part of which is now being used. There will be a stage and dressing rooms attached to the building so that all kinds of events both indoor and outdoor could be taken care of at the Fair Grounds.

Already a number of people have signed up and the directors will hold a meeting within a few days when the estimates of cost which have been secured will be discussed and a decision as to what progress will be made will be arrived at.

Should the proposition go through, Kingston will have a place where big events could be held. At present the only place of suitable size for many affairs is the armory and this often is not available. Should the proposition not go through the initial payments made will be returned to the investors.

FORD AND BLUENOSE IN CLOSE RACE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 25.—"To hell with the cup! We'll show them we can win no matter what obstacles they put in our way."

This was the sentiment expressed by a member of the Henry Ford crew just before she went out to the starting line today in the second official race of the series for the international fishermen's trophy. It was also probably the sentiment of every other member of her crew.

The report that a large amount of Gloucester money has been wagered on the Canadian trophy holder Bluenose, has so incensed Captain Morrissey and the other members of the American crew that the object of the race so far as it concerns the promotion of good fellowship, is a flat failure.

The crew of the Bluenose went out to the starting line with more hope of winning than at either of the two previous races. The Bluenose is a heavy weather boat and heavy weather was the order of the day. Several outboard fishermen left the harbor with two reefs in their sheets under a stiff southwest wind. Outside a heavy sea was running and the keel of Norman's Woe was smoking in a smother of foam and spray.

Captain Morrissey had his men astray early, removing the ballast that had been replaced in the Ford when he said he was "quitting yachting and going fishing."

To use the Gloucester skipper's own words, he is "sick and tired of committees, yachting rules and things." His crew feel the same way and they are in a fighting mood today.

In the wind holds at its present 20 knots, the best race of the series may be expected. If the Bluenose has any advantage over the Ford, she will have every opportunity to show it. The Ford whipped her twice, once unofficially in the race that has apparently caused most of the trouble and officially on Monday. The Ford's grievance is founded not only on the racing committee's "no contest" ruling on her victory Saturday, but on two conflicting orders reducing her sail. Both the Ford and the Bluenose hoisted their main sheets while being towed out to the starting line.

Mrs. Clayton Morrissey, wife of the skipper of the Henry Ford, upon her return in the towboat which took her husband's schooner to the starting line, stated that the Ford's foresail had been badly "glashed" with a knife in several places.

The start of the race was almost identical to that of Monday. The Bluenose slipped over the line first but before she could go twice her own length, the Gloucester's flying fisherman had shot past her.

The Ford widened her lead during the first two miles to four lengths. Near the start, the Bluenose succeeded in blanketing the Ford but the latter pulled out of it in a stiff little brush.

The officials announced the start as: Ford 11:00:50; Bluenose 11:00:59.

The wind dropped to not over ten knots during the first half hour of sailing.

The first five-mile leg of the 40 mile course was hard fought. The Bluenose crowded the Ford over near the shore, but Captain Morrissey permitted the Canadian to pass him and then shot across her stern, taking the weather berth. Captain Angus Walters of the Bluenose returned the compliment as the boats approached the first mark. He completely blanketed the challenger and rounded the first turn a length in the lead. The Ford's stayail was flapping badly as the boats began the second leg, a ten-mile beat to the windward.

The time at the first mark was Bluenose 11:47:50; Ford, 11:48:15. The Canadian luffed about the first mark very prettily, while the American did not do so well. The Bluenose drew away more than a hundred yards from the challenger but

EXPOSITION SOLVES PROBLEM OF "A SHOW FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY"

Ever-Increasing Attendance Proves That Clean, Instructive Attractions Can Hold Sustained Interest as Well as "Midways" and Other Bizarre Amusements—Reporter Couldn't Hurdle Crowd to See Style Show.

Brilliant, entertaining, instructive, and, above all clean, the Kingston Exposition is something new in the line of shows. Without sensational or revolting features, without barkers or ballyhoo men, clean of all swindling and other "midway" and "carnival" features, the Exposition draws larger crowds as its attractions come to be realized. Kingston set out to give an Exposition along the lines that had been so successful in Rome, N. Y., a few weeks earlier, and of about the same extent. When the Exposition opened it was found to be just about double the size of that given in Rome.

Attendance has not been larger because it was difficult to describe in print the extent and attractions of the Exposition. As those who have visited it go out and tell their friends, the attendance increases. Those who have been once go again. The attendance Tuesday night was the largest yet and a word of unfavorable comment remains yet to be heard. Even the most active members of the "It Can't Be Done" Club are silent.

The Style Show Tuesday evening filled the entertainment tent with a crowd that hollered over so far on the outside that The Freeman reporter wasn't able to get even a glimpse of it, which matters very little for what could any mere man do about describing the up-to-the-minute costumes shown by the beautiful ladies representing the stores of S. E. Elghmei, the Wonderful Company, the L. B. Van Wagenen Company, Rose-Gorman-Rose and the Up-to-Date stores. The living models were decorated with jewels from Richard Meyer and wore shoes from E. T. Stelle & Son.

At Proper for S. Cohen's Sons and Clark Snyder for A. W. Mollott showed snappy men's wear, Dick

Bernard sounded the army bugle calls and the show in the entertainment tent was over.

But the show in the exhibition tent, where 85 booths are filled with attractive displays ranging all the way from pianos to hot dogs was still going strong and visitors were still arriving when The Freeman man, who believes in the old-fashioned "early to bed" proverb, was leaving at 10 o'clock. Crowds were sampling Reynolds' coffee, Everett & Treadwell's canned pineapples, Craft's jellies, Salzmans' doughnuts and listening to the gentle baritone of Forst's hot dogs, giving every evidence of a "We won't go home until morning" spirit and interest. The Kingston Oil Company's condensation performance moving picture, was still whirling along and the Piccolo Midgets were smoking huge cigars, greatly to the horror of several good ladies who thought it a shame to permit such small boys to use tobacco. Of the ice that was locked in out of the Barth refrigerators on Thursday enough remained to keep the first meat exhibit cool. The roasts in the range were still unroasted. The coffee urns still gave off their aroma, the dancers danced, and everybody said:

"Ain't it great? I'm coming again tomorrow night and bring the family."

NEW ENTERTAINERS CALLAN AND U. S. FILMS TONIGHT

Roscoe Conkling and Miss Davis, Two of New York's Best Professional Dancers, to be Seen at the Exposition.

Roscoe Conkling, who was with the original "Irene" Company in New York as understudy to Bobby Watson, and his partner, Miss Davis, will be the outstanding attraction at the Exposition the last three nights of this week. Starting Thursday evening, they will appear on each program and the management promises Kingston lovers of the dance some splendid exhibitions.

Mr. Conkling and Miss Davis are well matched as dancing partners and their grace and skill have delighted thousands.

On each evening Mr. Conkling will also put on a character dance, "Singles" and on a date, to be announced later, special character dances with other partners from New York city, one of these being presented now for the first time outside the metropolis.

LaTour Sings for Radio.
Herman LaTour, the tenor singer of this city, and Miss Clara Hey gave a radio concert Tuesday evening from Station W. F. A. F., the Sprague Radio Company, of Poughkeepsie.

State Commander of American Legion and Official Movies of World War at the Exposition.

Official pictures of the World War will be shown this evening at 8 o'clock at the Exposition. A large screen will be erected on the stage in the amusement tent and more than 1,200 seats provided.

Three moving pictures were taken by the government staff and are selected as the best of millions of feet of film exposed. They will show the life and experiences of our dough boys from training camps to the trenches and are scenes photographed from actual life, not staged or faked.

This is the first showing here. Kingston Post, American Legion, secured the reels from Washington and is showing them as its contribution toward making the Exposition a place of entertainment and instruction. An additional attraction will be the presence of Albert S. Callan, State Commander of the American Legion. He is a pleasing speaker and from his own intimate experiences in the war, will supplement the story of the pictures.

Next to being actually on the ground these films will bring the war to us with vivid reality. "Over the Top," hand to hand combats, gas attacks and aerial duels will bring a new realization of the perils and hardships our boys endured, and incite a renewed respect and gratitude for them.

POUGHKEEPSIE CORONER CENSURES BEACON MOB

Who Stormed House of William White, the Maniac, Last Month.

Charging that the Beacon police force and the mob of citizens who stormed the home of William White, the maniac who shot and killed Patrolman Charles Lucy when the officer attempted to serve a warrant, and killing the crazy man in reprisal for shooting the officer acted in an inhuman and primeval manner, Coroner John A. Card of Poughkeepsie has filed his report in the two killings which shocked Beacon last month.

In his report the coroner states that there was but one shot fired by White, that being at the officer, whom the crazed man had mistaken for the complainant. He further states that the law makes no allowance for taking a prisoner by killing him. That White recognized his mistake and was like a caged lion in the barricaded house was allowed by the coroner, but he discredits the testimony of witnesses to the effect that the maniac had fired on the mob.

CONNER ORDERED TO PAY ALIMONY

Court Directs Him To Turn Over $75 To Wife Within 10 Days and $7.50 Weekly During Pendency of Her Action For Separation—Woman's Name Is Marks.

An order has been filed in the office of the Ulster county clerk by Frank W. Brooks, attorney for plaintiff, in the action for limited divorce brought by Lillian Conner against W. Norman Conner of this city, in which Supreme Court Justice Joseph Rosch directs defendant to pay plaintiff's attorney $75 within ten days; also orders defendant to pay $7.50 a week for her support during the pendency of her action to be computed from this date, the entire amount of back alimony to be paid by said defendant within ten days after the service of a copy of this order on defendant's attorney at the office of the plaintiff's attorney, and the sum of $7.50 each and every week hereafter on each Monday at the office of plaintiff's attorney during this action's pendency.

The action out of which this order grows was begun May 3, 1922, by plaintiff, Lillian Conner, against her husband W. Norman Conner defendant as the affidavit of plaintiff shows, for a limited divorce or judgment of separation on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment and desertion, etc. She charges defendant left their home on Franklin street, December 2, 1921, and for nearly a year and a half defendant has been associating with a woman whose name is Marks and since then his conduct toward plaintiff has been unfriendly, cruel and abusive. The several charges and allegations which are along the line as above are severe.

The defendant denies in his answer that he left home or that the charges are true, and makes a counterclaim that, owing to abuse by the plaintiff and her association with one Wood who boarded with the plaintiff, to which he objected, he was ordered out of the house repeatedly. That he left the house because he could not stand her treatment and abuse and that a couple of months after he had left, requested came to defendant and told her to return and he told her he would not as long as she maintained and harbored the man Wood. Defendant states having any money or real estate and is in debt, and that he sleeps in his office and eats in restaurants and lunch rooms.

Plaintiff in an affidavit denies the counterclaim made by the defendant in his answering affidavit, denying the statement made by him concerning defendant and one William H. Wood as utterly false and untrue and known to defendant to be untrue. That eight years ago defendant had the same trouble over a near personal relative.

William H. Wood in an affidavit deposes that the statements made by the defendant that relate to any affectionate relations between the plaintiff and defendant are false; that a statement that he caught defendant and the plaintiff kissing is untrue and known by the defendant to be untrue.

On October 7, Mr. Brooks, attorney for the plaintiff, made a motion before Justice Rosch that an order be made in the above matter that defendant pay plaintiff $20 a week pending her action for a divorce, and a reasonable and proper sum of money to enable her to defray the costs and expenses of the action. The order just issued and filed grows out of the motion for alimony and counsel fees. The defendant was represented at the hearing, and the motion opposed, by William D. Brinnier, Jr., of William D. & William D. Brinnier, Jr.

Highland Boy Hurt.

Claude Couse, 8 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Couse of Highland, is at Vassar Hospital. Poughkeepsie, as a result of injuries which he suffered on Saturday afternoon when he was struck and knocked down by an automobile driven by Raymond Hegaman. The accident occurred in front of Palmer's bakery, Poughkeepsie. At the hospital it was found he had sustained a broken jaw and other injuries.

Motorcycle Hits Truck.

Walter Leppo, Jr., of Partition street, Saugerties, by reason of his motorcycle skidding, crashed into an autotruck hailing from Catskill on Sunday afternoon, and Leppo received deep cuts in his leg while the motorcycle was wrecked. Leppo was going around the corner at the head of Hill street, Saugerties, and the truck coming up Church street, when the crash came. Dr. John C. Kaup dressed Leppo's cuts.

Bicycle Hit by Auto.

Wesley Cramer of 132 East Chestnut street reported to the police department Tuesday that a man on a bicycle had run into his auto at the corner of North street and the Strand. The man was thrown off, but appeared to be uninjured. The bicycle was damaged.

The board of public works has received a number of complaints from residents of Kingston regarding what was said to be unnecessary blocking of the railroad crossing on Broadway. At the last meeting of the board Corporation Counsel Walter N. Gill was authorized to write the president of the New York Central Lines asking him to send representatives here to talk over the matter and see if a solution of the problem could not be found.

Tuesday evening Station Master Delaplaine and Train Master Relyea of the West Shore railroad met with the board at the city hall. Mayor Crane presided with Commissioners Selig Oppenheimer, Frank B. Matthews and John Hillebrand present.

The situation was discussed at length, and it was brought out that the most delay was occasioned by the north bound freight, which would come to a stop just south of the crossing and in front of the freight house. There is a very heavy upgrade at that point between the freight house and the railroad station several hundred feet further north. With from seventy to eighty cars in the freight train it took considerable time to get the freight rolling after being stopped and that caused what was considered unnecessary blocking.

Commissioner Matthews believed that if it were possible to stop the north bound freight further south, and that if the stop signal in front of the freight house was moved to a point further south nearer the Wiltwyck cemetery it would give the engineer more of a chance to get his heavy train under way and he would then approach the crossing at a rate of speed that would carry the train across without trouble and would eliminate a large part of the crossing delay at the present time.

Messrs. Relyea and Delaplaine believed that the suggestion made by Commissioner Matthews could be used. They will report back to the higher officials of the railroad the result of the conference and will again take the matter up with the board of public works informing them what action had been taken to eliminate unnecessary blocking of the crossing.

For some time past the board of public works has believed that it would be the best policy for the city to own its own asphalt plant and lay its asphalt streets. Tuesday evening the board made tentative arrangements to purchase an asphalt plant to be installed here about the first of next May.

The request of the C. & L. Tire Shop at 565 Broadway to run an air line underground from the cellar to the curb was denied.

An application from N. L. Feldman of 112 Van street to install a gas pump was referred to the street committee and suspended.

The board audited a number of bills. The resolutions from the common council were read and referred to the proper committees.

Several routine matters were disposed of and the board then adjourned.

80 IN PERFECT CHILD CONTEST

45 More Took Elimination Tests Tuesday—Bad Teeth Bar Many—Final Examination Friday.

On Monday afternoon 35 bright, healthy, happy youngsters were examined at the Exhibition, for the elimination test preparatory to the final contest among our "Perfect Children." On Tuesday afternoon 15 children were given exactly the same test, making 80 in all. This afternoon at 5 o'clock the committee were to meet at the office of Dr. Johnston to go over the 80 records. For the benefit of the interested public and the families of the children it should be said that each child was given a number 1-80 when examined and the record slip shows only the number, not the name of the child. Taking the Federal and state standards, the records were to be compared with the test records this afternoon. Any record not coming up to the standard will be rejected, and then the child whose number that it is will be notified that he or she is out of the contest.

In the examinations so far, a condition exactly paralleling that in our public schools was found: often a perfectly healthy, fine looking child was found to have bad teeth. The nurses who have been assisting the doctors were Miss Elizabeth Brown, the tuberculosis nurse; Mrs. O'Neil, the Public Health Nurse; Miss Mary Leonard, and Miss Mokska, night nurse of the Kingston City Hospital.

On Friday, the children whose records have been found to measure up to the standard will be given a final examination in order to determine which five of the little folks are to be the prize winners. The contest is creating a great deal of interest, and aside from the attractiveness of 80 splendid boys and girls, the educational value to the parents, of this contest promises to be great.

INDICTMENTS IN 19 CASES; 8 DISMISSED; JURY DISCHARGED

Dunham Pleads Not Guilty to Stealing Barnhardt's Car—Grand Jury Ends Busy Session With Report to Judge Staley.

The grand jury which has been in session since the opening of the present term of the supreme court more than two weeks ago, reported to Judge Staley this morning, handing up eighteen sealed indictments, one open indictment and eight dismissals. Through their foreman, Jacob V. Merrihue of Olive, the grand jury reported there were not any further matters pending, before them and they were discharged with the thanks of the court.

Cases Sent to County Court.
In the cases represented by the eighteen sealed indictments, District Attorney Traver moved that they be sent to county court, which was so ordered by Judge Staley.

Cases Dismissed.
In cases dismissed by the grand jury, District Attorney Traver moved for the cancellation of the bond, where bail had been given and such bonds were ordered cancelled.

The cases dismissed by the grand jury were as follows:

George A. Fox, charged with assault on the second degree, on Arthur McCord, on June 5 at the town of Gardiner. Dismissed because complainant does not desire to prosecute.

Louis Ragland, charged with assault in the second degree, on John Jenkins, in the town of Ulster. Dismissed because complainant cannot be located.

Margaret Kelly, charged with assault in the second degree, on Harold Mullen, on August 23 in the village of Saugerties. Dismissed because of lack of evidence.

Alfred Monbell, charged with forgery in the second degree, against Robert Sutton on September 12 in the town of Lloyd. Dismissed because complainant does not wish to prosecute.

Lizzie Pirigi, charged with assault in the second degree, on Charles Pirigi, on August 15 in the town of Ulster. Dismissed because complainant does not wish to prosecute.

Eugene Osei, charged with assault in the second degree, on Michael Prospero, on July 10 in the town of Lloyd.

Tony Pantusco and Joseph Donohue, charged with robbery in the second degree, on William Emmerle, on July 20 in the town of Marlborough. Dismissed as complainant does not wish to prosecute.

Charles D. Terpening, charged with possession of intoxicating liquors in violation of subdivision 2 of section 1212 of the penal law, on March 20 in the city of Kingston. Dismissed because there was no evidence to justify a search.

Harvey Dunham Arraigned.
Harvey Dunham was arraigned by District Attorney Traver on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree, in stealing a Buick coupe, valued at $2,000, the property of J. Mower Barnhardt, on September 8, in the town of Marlborough.

Dunham pleaded not guilty and said that DuBois J. Gillette was his attorney. On the motion of District Attorney Traver the case was transferred by Judge Staley to county court.

SURETY COMPANY FAILS TO COLLECT MAN KILLED IN CURIOUS MANNER

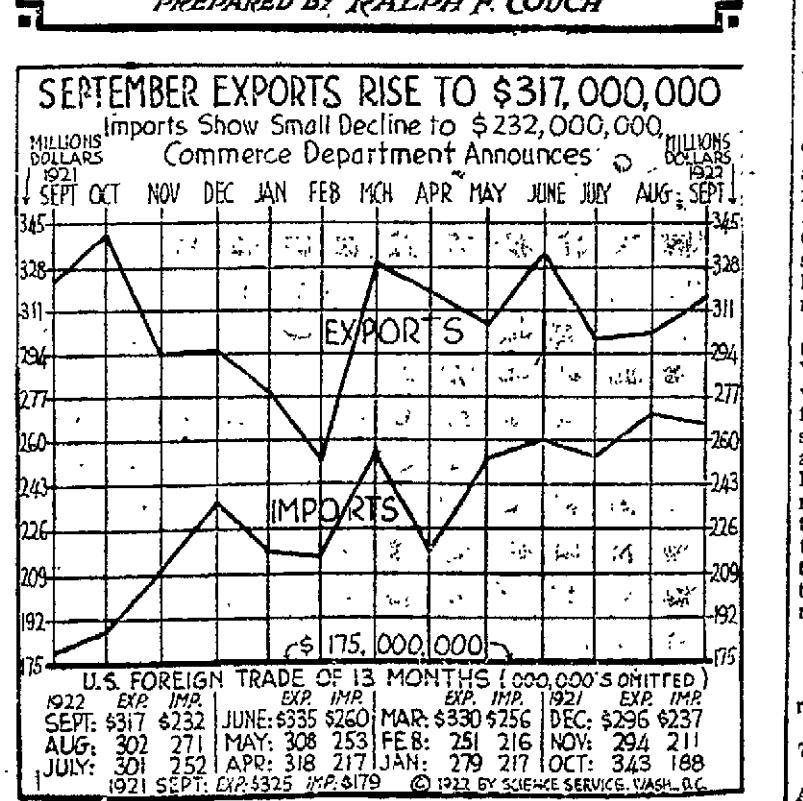

Jury Returns Verdict of No Cause of Action in Suit Over Checks of Hiasbroeck of Rosendale.

A verdict of no cause of action was returned this morning in the action brought by the National Surety Company against Abram Kelder of Rosendale. The action was brought to recover moneys on checks which had been drawn by Supervisor James S. Hiasbroeck against the town fund and endorsed by Mr. Kelder. It is alleged that Mr. Hiasbroeck drew moneys from the town fund and used it for his personal account, the Surety Company having to make good the amount. The Surety Company in turn sued Mr. Kelder for the amount of the checks which he had endorsed and collected upon. Defendant claimed that he had cashed the checks and given the money to Supervisor Hiasbroeck not knowing that the funds were being diverted at the time.

The action brought by Rudolph Haroldt against John Holland, a negligence action, was put over the same on payment of witness fees by plaintiff. A. D. & A. W. Lent appeared for plaintiff and Donald L. Brush for defendant.

A jury was taken in 170, a negligence action brought by Joseph A. Murray of this city against Raymond B. Bradow of Catskill, to recover for damage to plaintiff's automobile sustained in an automobile collision near Schoenag's Hotel on Colston near Schoenag's Hotel on the Saugerties road. Thomas F. Laughlin and Chris Flanagan appeared for plaintiff and John D. Smith and Sterling for defendant. A recess was taken at 10 o'clock.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

LITTLE GORDON

Billie Brownie had always considered himself a very fortunate little Brownie. You see, Mother Nature had given him permission to call upon her different children, and she had also given him the power to understand the language her different children spoke.

They, too, were given the power to understand Billie Brownie.

So, wherever Billie went to call upon the flowers and the butterflies and the birds he knew how to understand them and they knew how to understand him. Then he could go back to Fairyland later on and tell of the wonderful ways of flowers and butterflies and birds, or how they cared for themselves and each other, of their travels, of what they ate, and of how they planned their little lives.

Whenever Billie went to the zoo he could understand the lions and the tigers and the wolves and the bears when they told him of the wild, free lives they had led before they had been brought to the zoo.

But Billie Brownie had a new idea. "Mother Nature," he said, "you have let me call on so many wonderful children of yours that I do not like to ask for another favor, and yet—and yet—I am only human, I suppose."

"What is it you would like to ask of me?" Mother Nature replied as she drew her early summer cape about her shoulders. It was a lovely cape made of early summer flowers, and as she drew it about her a delicate fragrance filled the air of roses and of peonies, of tall iris flowers and of a late crop of tulips, of ferns and of lilies, of the valleys.

"I wonder," said Billie Brownie, "if I could be given the power to understand the talk of a little baby. I should so like to know what a baby means when he gurgles and chatters and cries and coos. They would all like to have such a story told to them in Fairyland, and then perhaps the Breeze Brothers would carry the story to others—it is not only for myself that I ask this favor."

"Granted," said Mother Nature. "Yes, Billie Brownie, your favor is granted, but it is a rare treat and should I grant it often others might feel badly that I did not give everyone this permission—so, just choose one little baby to talk to, and then you can tell his story to your Fairyland friends and to all your other friends."

"Oh, thank you, dear Mother Nature," said Billie Brownie, and he waved his brown cap in the air.

So Billie Brownie went to call on a little baby, and the little baby whom he wanted to see particularly smiled at Billie Brownie when he saw Billie understood him.

"My name is little Gordon," said the baby, after Billie Brownie had told his name. "I am named after my father. My mother's name is L.d.th, which is a beautiful name too, but I am well pleased with my name."

"What is it you would like?"

"Had I been a girl that would have been difficult, if not impossible." So you see how thoroughly pleased she is with me. In fact, she is so thoroughly pleased that it doesn't much matter what I do. And I believe, between you and me, Billie Brownie, that that is why babies cry.

"They know their mothers and their fathers are so pleased with them and so proud and so delighted that they came to them that it doesn't matter at all if we cry—we won't be scolded. We are so popular with our parents to be scolded."

"My aunt Tiddy says I've a good-sized nose for a baby, but she can't help but say I'm a darling. And why shouldn't I have a good-sized nose? I'm a baby, but I'm not going to have everything about me baby-like. And I think it is so generous to have a big nose—of course it isn't quite as generous as though I had a big heart, but then it will do, yes, it will do!"

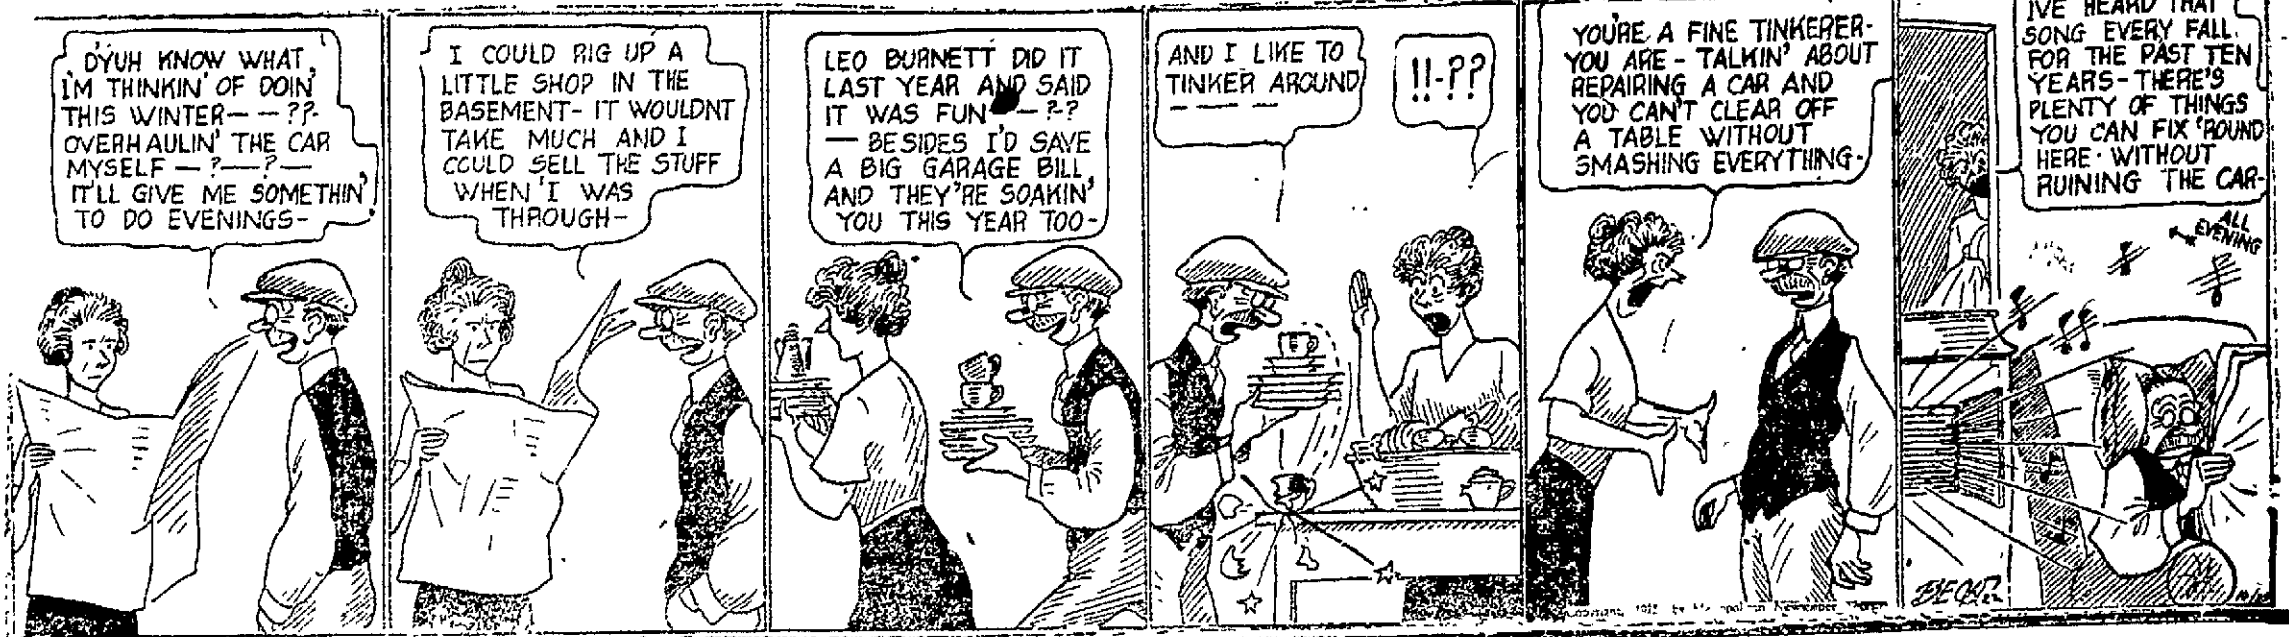

"I've only been in the world for a few days, little Brownie, but it looks all right to me. Everybody admires me. Everyone loves me. That's a good beginning isn't it?"

"And I'm perfectly satisfied with my parents. It would be horrible for a baby if after choosing parents one would wish to change them."

"I don't know if parents can be exchanged at shops. I know there are shops where they exchange baby jackets. I heard my mother say so. But I'm not so sure about exchanging parents. Well, I don't have to worry about that. I'm so well pleased. In fact, little Gordon hasn't a single complaint to make!"

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

A soup which is both dainty and delicious is the following:

Tapioca Purée.—Sink one cupful of pearl tapioca over night, cook in the morning in one quart of chicken stock when the tapioca is clear; add one quart of milk, thicken with one tablespoonful of flour cooked in a table-spoonful of butter, add to the soup and cook until the flour is well cooked, then add one cupful of cream and salt to taste.

Chicken With Rice.—Cut up and stew a fat hen with water enough to almost cover it. When nearly tender add two cupfuls of uncooked rice. Cook carefully without stirring until the rice has absorbed all the broth. Season well, serve on a platter with the chicken surrounded by the rice.

Stuffed Cabbage.—Remove the outer leaves of a cabbage and wash them thoroughly. Heat two table-spoonfuls of cooking oil and brown one chopped onion and one clove of garlic also chopped. Add one-half cupful of well washed rice and cook, stirring carefully until the rice is brown. Add one cup of chopped mutton and enough mutton stock to cover the rice. Simmer slowly until the rice is tender. Season with salt and pepper. Fill the cabbage leaves with the rice mixture; if the leaves are too crisp with them a minute in hot water, then drain. Roll up and tie and simmer for thirty minutes, turning occasionally. Serve the gravy poured over the cabbage after removing the strings.

Virginia Sugar Biscuit.—One cupful of lard mixed with one-half cupful of butter, six cupfuls of flour, one cupful of buttermilk, three cupfuls of brown sugar, two eggs, one tea-spoonful of soda dissolved in a table-spoonful of warm water, one nutmeg grated. Rub the shortening well into the flour, mix with the milk and eggs and other ingredients. Roll quite thin, cut with a biscuit cutter and bake.

Chicken Stuffing.—Three cupfuls of bread crumbs, one cupful of milk, one-half cupful of ground peanuts, one half onion chopped fine, pepper and salt. Fill the prepared fowl and roast as usual.

Blue Sky and Hot Sun.

Experiment made last summer in Europe show that the amount of radiation received from the sun on the surface of the earth in a clear day is greater with a dark blue than with a light blue sky. In the latter case there is a higher tension of the water vapor in the air. It is suggested that some instrument capable of measuring accurately the intensity of the blue of the sky would be useful in observations on the variable transmission of the sun's heat through the atmosphere.

In Des Moines, Iowa, they tell of an elderly Irishman, long desecrated of official clients, who was finally appointed marshal in a parade in that city. Veterans, handmen and school children lined the streets of the town, patiently waiting the signal to start.

Suddenly the marshal, on a prancing horse, dashed up the street. After in speeding the procession he gave his horse a touch with the whip, stood up in his stirrups, and shouted:

"Ready, now! Every wan of ye kape step vld the horse! March!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Graph is The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 25.—The stock market was mainly steady at the close today, Reading continuing in demand, advancing 1 point to 123 1/2, and Pennsylvania was half a point higher at 142 1/2. U. S. Steel yielded 1/2 point, and then recovered to 49 1/2. American Beet Sugar showed a gain at 42 3/4 and Consolidated was 1 point higher at 142 1/2. The market was irregular throughout the forenoon with the lead issues strong. New York Central advanced over 1 point to 123 1/2. Studebaker yielded over 2 points to 123 1/2. Baldwin Locomotive dropped nearly 3 points to 135 1/2. American Chemical was weak, dropping six points to 29 1/2. The market turned stronger in the afternoon, following the announcement of the increased Pennsylvania dividend. Reading, which had fallen to 123 1/2, rose to above 124 and Steel moved up over 1 point to 49 1/2. Marine preferred, after falling to 7 1/2, came back to 56. Baldwin rose from 133 1/2 to 135 1/2. Renewals also took place in the oil and motor shares.

Recognized Land Divisions.
The continents (or great bodies of land) are usually grouped in the following manner, with Australia sometimes regarded as an island, and sometimes as a continent: 1. As two continents—the western and the eastern with and South America forming one and Europe, Asia and Africa one; 2. As three—Europe and Asia taken together (and sometimes called Eurasia), Africa and America; 3. As four—Europe, Asia, Africa and America; 4. As five—adding Australia to the third list; 5. As six—North America, South America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia; 6. As seven (1906)—Australia, Asia, Europe, Africa, North America, South America and the Antarctic or Austral continent consisting of the land about the South pole.

Polynesians Mysterious Race.
The area occupied by the Polynesians in the Pacific is not less than 10,000 square miles. But the land area within this area is relatively small and varies from New Zealand to the 160,000 square miles to little more than a few islands. The branches of the race scattered from Hawaii in the west to New Zealand in the south, from the New Hebrides in the west to Easter Island in the east, and their homogeneity is a remarkable feature. Those who have studied their customs, their language and their legends doubt that they have a common ancestor. Whence came the Polynesians?

Troubled by Minor Sins.
Daniel Mather, in his diary, related his sinfulness, instancing as evidence of his evil nature the fact that he once whittled on Sunday. He was young. "When very young, I went astray from God," he wrote, "and my mind was altogether given to vanities and follies, such as the remembrance of them doth still abuse my soul within me. Of manifold sins which then I was guilty of none so sticks upon me as being very young I was whittling on the Sabbath day. And for fear of what I did I hid behind a door. A reproach of God, a specimen of that atheism I brought into the world with me."

IN EVENING WEAR

Drapery Gives Important Touch to Formal Apparel.

Exquisite Brocades of Silver and Gold and Vivid Colors Are Used for Decorations.

For the evening dress there is nothing to distinguish it as much as drapery, asserts a fashion authority. The materials are as handsome as any fabrics which have made their debut from antique times until modern ones. There are exquisite brocades of silver and gold and vivid colors. Of course they cost a fortune per yard, but then a very few yards of them will make the gown, and there need be not the slightest degree of trimming. In the design of the fabric itself there is quite enough to make the gown notable and there need not be the slightest trimming. The fact is that trimming would spoil the effect and that anything the least fancy added to the plain straight lines of the gorgeous material would be a superfluous addition.

Many of the girdles for evening gowns are made with a motif over the stomach. Some of them are made in rounder, fuller motifs, of a composition of many and various colored flowers fashioned from the colored ribbons. Then, instead of streamers of beads, there are streamers of the various colors of ribbons that hang from the motif of flowers. In any case these motifs and the streamers which hang from them are the only decorations which the gown boasts, but the colors are so artistically and practically chosen that they constitute the decoration without any other help.

Under the modern method of dressing everything is done to make the trimming of the gown harmonize with the earrings and the stockings and the slippers and, perhaps, scarf or any other extraneous decoration which is used as a part of the costume. These extra bits are never put on, regardless of the gown and its trimmings, but they are, on the contrary, harmonized with the gown as it exists and, in the end, they are able to carry out the effect of that gown in such a manner that they help materially to produce the general effect.

It is the same way with the straps over the shoulders. Most every dinner or evening gown has a pair or at least one of these straps, and although the space occupied by that bit of decoration is extremely small, still it serves to accentuate the character of the gown in such a way that the small bit of trimming becomes a pertinent part of the design as a whole.

NEW PURSES ARE ELABORATE

Precious Metals and Real Jewels Often Used in Working Out Novelty Mountings.

Great extravagance is manifested in the purses of today. The bagmaker must in a way rival the jeweler, because it is in the small shops devoted to the sale of high-class jewelry that one finds the most beautiful specimens of handbags. Precious metals and real jewels are often used in working out novelty mountings, and other costly materials, such as tortoise-shell, amber, ivory and semi-precious stones are utilized for this purpose. In the more practical purses maroonette trimmings are used in profusion.

Square mountings of real tortoise-shell are used on silk bags which are ornamented with brilliants. A monogram inset with glistening stones, often real rose diamonds, is used on the more expensive ones. With such an elaborate trimming the bag is deplorably fashioned of black or navy fabric.

EMBROIDERY AND FUR COAT

Made of crepe is this gorgeous costume with a smart coat of original all-over embroidery with bands of fur, shown at the recent fall fashion exposition in Atlantic City.

Fabric Flowers.
Flowers of fabric are a fashionable trimming. One sees very delicate ones of organdie pastel shades, and very gay ones of silk, flannel, leather and velvet.

"The French Fury."
"The French Fury" is a name given to a treacherous attack on Antwerp by four thousand French soldiers under the Duc d'Anjou, January 17, 1583. The citizens repelled the attack, killing about one-half the French and taking the rest prisoners.

Too Late.

A French scientist says that in order to attain a ripe old age it is necessary to sleep in a due north and south position. We may die young but we'll keep right on sleeping on our right side, all curled up with our knees under our chin. It's too late for us to start now worrying whether or not we're pointed north.

More than 600,000,000 francs were expended at the coronation of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania, at the ancient capital, Alba Julia. The rich robes, made in Paris, represent the last word in the modiste and jeweler's art. The royal sceptre of the king was fashioned by Falize, famous French artist, as a lighter model of the unwieldy one that reposes in the royal Rumanian vaults. Queen Marie's crown was manufactured by the same goldsmith of Transylvanian gold and rich turquoises, amethysts and moonstones. It contains many ancient relics and symbols, the ornaments hanging from the chains representing wheat, symbols of Rumania's chief product.

ONLY HELPING GARRISON.

The Garrison case, as it is generally known in Congress and throughout the country, has attracted much attention because it involves so many matters which have been up for public discussion in recent years.

Garrison, who lived in Greene county, enlisted in an Ulster county regiment near the close of the Civil War, his age having prevented an earlier enlistment, and soon was fighting in the thickest of the battles then raging in Virginia. He escaped death or injury by bullets but suffered a worse fate in contracting an illness which sent him to an army hospital, where he was considered a hopeless case. But he rallied. Meanwhile Lee surrendered. Physicians told him he might live if he could return home, and without solicitation they procured his honorable discharge. By easy stages he finally reached home but never was able to become strong. He is now past seventy-five years of age.

His life made useless so far as hard work was concerned, Garrison for many years sought the same help the government was giving to other disabled soldiers in the form of a pension. He was contented by red tape. Asked to procure affidavits of nurses who had attended him in his delirium, whom he never knew, he was confronted by an unsurmountable obstacle. The officious doctor whose intentions were all right had procured his honorable discharge within ninety days, which was another fatal fact in the case.

The big government of the United States appeared to the old man to be working an injustice to him, when the case was brought to the attention of Congressman Charles B. Ward of this district. With characteristic promptness he procured the passage of a bill at the last session of Congress, which was promptly signed by President Harding when he, too, learned of the facts, and now after the lapse of many years Garrison is receiving the pension which a well-intentioned but sometimes thoughtless government owed him. His remaining old age will be made as comfortable as a pension can make it and the few years he has yet to live will probably result in Garrison forgetting the injustice of former years.

There have been other Garrison cases in the Twenty-seventh Congressional district. Sometimes they have been pension cases, sometimes passport cases, sometimes involving the War Department, or the Navy Department—in fact, almost every department of the government at Washington. Every community in this Congressional district has a Garrison case, only the name may happen to be Jones, or Smith, or Brown or some other name, but the principle in each case is the same, and in each case the man who accomplished results when others failed is Congressman Ward.

The men and women of this Congressional district, even first voters, are sufficiently familiar with public affairs to know that the slow-moving hands of government are not unwound of red-tape by a novice or an amateur. Only a man who knows what to do and when and where to do it can accomplish such results. The greatest asset a Congressional district has is a representative in Washington who has the ability to do what other men fail to do—and who will do it. Congressman Ward knows how to do things. Congressman Ward does things that his constituents want him to do. He has eight years of such active service to the people of this district as his record, and there is no community in the entire district out will gladly recite the story of its own particular Garrison case in which Congressman Ward has acted promptly and successfully.

With the Garrison case so fresh in their minds, the voters of this district will not seek any change, but on election day, regardless of political affiliation, will vote to return Congressman Ward to Washington, where his usefulness to every individual who has sought his help has been so frequently and unmistakably demonstrated.

In saying that the American Federation of Labor and the American Legion "have every good thing in common," Samuel Compers, who seems to dream of a country controlling alliance of the two powers, noticeably forgets that the Federation is entirely out of sympathy with the Legion's proposed "national military system based on universal military obligation."

The sophomores having spanked the freshmen at Mercer University, Macon, Ga., the president ruled that the hazers could take their choice between expulsion and the same indignity. So the freshmen enjoyed spanking the sophomores in turn, and for the time being at Mercer hazing is doubtless regarded as not quite what it once was.

Burrage Nature Club Notes

Copyright 1921.
 BY HOUGHTON MIFFLIN CO.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Do fish spawn in any special protected place?
2. What is the difference between hide and leather?
3. Will the gold finch stay all winter if fed?

Answers In Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Do red-winged blackbirds rear a second brood?

Said to do so by some authorities, but the occurrence is not frequent enough to be given as a habit by most ornithologists. Redwings are often polygamous, and it might be that a late brood indicated a later-established family among the bird's harem.

2. Are porcupines fit to eat?

Perhaps not very toothsome to the civilized palate, but perfectly wholesome and nourishing. The porcupine is so valuable as a food possibility in an emergency that in parts of the far northwest it is protected by law, to make sure that trappers, etc., stranded in some winter accident, will have a meal supply available.

3. How is it possible for a plant to eat insects? I read your notes on the sun-dew plants, but don't understand how they work.

The leaves are covered with tentacles (averaging 100 at least per leaf), which respond to the stimulus given them when an insect happens to lodge on the center of the leaf, by folding inward. Those nearest the center fold down first the others following, until the prey is completely enclosed. The contact of the insect with the glands at the ends of the tentacles provokes an excretion of "dew," which acts chemically to dissolve the prey and absorb the fluid thus produced. The action is similar to that of gastric juice in mammals.

Concerning Fashions.

Where, and by whom, asked M. de Montferrier, are fashions set? The question is never satisfactorily answered. Women are told, and tell each other, that "they" say this or that fashion will be worn. No closer precision is ever given. The name of some dressmaker is attached to a certain model, but whence came the inspiration to make that model is not specified. Desire for change is at the back of all fashions. No woman loves her clothes a little and for a long time. She is ever demanding something new and never has "a rag to put on her back." This is a classic tag, not peculiar to the women of any one country. Yet clothes have a national voice, as M. de Montferrier pointed out. It is easy to distinguish French, English or Italian, though they all may dress in Paris.

Shelley's Sense of Humor.

He cared little for comedy, at least in his early years. He was too intense, too deeply grieved over the imperfections of life. His sense of humor developed later than his other faculties, but a lively sense of fun he always had, writes Gertrude Slaughter in the North American Review. He cared for serious books, just as he preferred serious discussions to jokes and banter. Yet he would burst into gales of laughter. He was the best of companions, a master of the art of conversation, the friend of children; and his pleasure in boats was an unfailing enthusiasm, whether he made them of paper and sailed on them in imagination or pulled at the oars on the Thames or the Arno or floated on that fatal sea which nobody else has reproduced in such living form.

Smallpox Virtually Overcome.

Much less than two centuries ago smallpox was more prevalent than is measles today. In Europe those who escaped it were a minority. George Washington caught it when seventeen years old, in Barbados, and bore the marks of it through life. Of all the great epidemic diseases, smallpox was the most terrible enemy of mankind. Conquest of it may be regarded as one of the most remarkable of human achievements. Vaccination, supplemented by the practice of isolating sufferers, has wiped it out so thoroughly in this country that since 1904 (according to a statement of the public health service) deaths from smallpox have been less than one in 100,000 of our population per annum.

GET MORE OUT OF YOUR CLOTHES

SOME men buy clothing only as a "necessity," something to cover them; that's about all they look for; that's about all they get.

They miss the biggest and most important things good clothes can give; the personal satisfaction you enjoy in getting good style; the pride one feels in fine fabrics and expert tailoring. These are some of the points we cover—in Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes.

Eyesight of Birds and Bees.

I think we would be safe in saying that, on an average, birds see one hundred times better than man, writes L. E. Embanks in Our Dumb Animals. By watching each other's actions birds will go a hundred miles to a carcass; and under favorable atmospheric conditions a bird can see a worm on freshly plowed ground at a distance of 300 feet. The bee, though the strength of its sight is not remarkable, has a wonderful ocular equipment—five eyes, a cluster of three on top of its head, and one on each side. Zoologists say that the compound eye on top is so made as to be specially adapted for detecting moving objects; and this seems reasonable, as the bee has many enemies that fly above it.

Flowers Help Turkish Romeo.

The language of flowers in the Near East is no simple form of speech that anyone may understand. Long and elaborate communications may be sent by bouquet if the lady is not too lazy to learn a complicated code. There is, say those Turks who claim to understand it, a direct and an indirect form of flower message. The indirect message goes by words that rhyme either with the name of the flower or with the meaning of the name of the flower. They go to lengths in selecting and collecting posies for bouquets and to be sent singly and in series that would be quite too much trouble to the average American.

The Dull Point.

It is hard work to plow with a dull point. Can't do as good a job, either. There is a man downtown that is willing to sell you a new point. That is the way the world's business is kept up. You need the new point; he needs the dollar you pay him for it—Farm Life.

VAN WAGENEN'S

AVERAGE WAGE AGAIN ON RISE

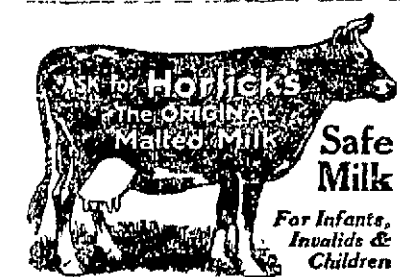

By The Staff of The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 25.—Every large division of manufacturing in New York state and practically every separate industry reported gains in the average earnings of its employees from August to September. The average earnings for all manufacturing industries in September were $25.71, a gain of 62 cents compared with August. The greatest increase was that of $3.66 in the iron and steel mills. The few decreases were the result of special circumstances, such as the time lost in Syracuse because of the state fair, rather than of industrial conditions. This statement was issued today by the industrial commissioner, Henry D. Sayer, and is based on monthly reports received by the state department of labor from representative manufacturers who employ about 49 per cent of the factory workers in the state.

The fall increase in employment was not always accompanied by increased average earnings because the new employees are likely to be taken on at the lower wage scale. The increases in earnings in September were due partly to increased working time, but mostly to advances in wage rates. The number of increases in basic wage rates was the largest since July, 1920. The increases were widely distributed, being reported in 23 separate industries.

Today, there is a thing called yesterday, but that is only the dust-bin at the door, into which we cast our refuse, our failures, our worn-out souls. There is a thing called tomorrow, bursting with far better things than those which we have discarded. But in today, the whole passionate force of the universe is poured and therefore today is marvellous.—S. P. B. Mals.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

A Young Wag.
Sir Archibald Gadder, the British ambassador, told at a dinner some interesting experiences he had had among the London poor. On one occasion he was addressing the pupils in a school and giving some practical information about the cow. He brought out by questions that the cow's flesh was used for food. It's hide for making shoes, and then he asked, "and what do we use the horns for?"

"For ornaments, sir," said a boy promptly.

It is too bad that somebody cannot figure out a way by which the soldier's bonus could be assessed on the war profiteers.

A writer makes a comment on the number of women who are making a success at banking. Women have always been good at figures especially their own.

A woman down East feeds her husband on ground glass diluted with strabismus. When she gets through feeding him, she can work him over into a memorial church window.

Many a man has done mighty well, just because he wanted to show his wife's former lovers that she made no mistake in picking him.

Why She Left.
"Why did she leave her husband?"
"He lost all his money."
"How?"
"She spent it."

Like The Dow, He Would Settle.
"How kind of you," said the girl "to bring me these lovely flowers. They are so beautiful and fresh, I think there is some dew on them yet."
"Yes," said the young man in great embarrassment. "There is, but I'm going to pay it off tomorrow."

Good News For Creditors.
The doctor coughed gravely. "I am sorry to tell you," he said, looking down at the man in the bed, "that there is no doubt you are suffering from smallpox."
The patient turned on his pillow and looked up at his wife.
"Julia," he said in a faint voice, "if any of my creditors call tell them that at last I am in a position to give them something."

LUCIA SEXTETTE WILL BE GIVEN AS AN ENCORE.

While not mentioned on his program, it is pretty well understood that Leader William H. Santelmann will, in response to many requests, have the Lucia Sextette available as an encore in the concert of the U. S. Marine Band at the armory in this city next Sunday. Probably the first arrangement of this sextette for horns was made by the popular bandmaster, Pat Gilmore, whose love of spectacular audacity subjected him to much criticism in conservative musical circles, but made him nevertheless the idol of the holiday throng. A Gilmore's Band audience expected something thrilling and its leader hesitated at no device which ingenuity could summon to gratify this demand, even going so far as to use artillery in the distance to represent the strokes of the hammer in the Anvil Chorus from "Trovatore."

Leader Santelmann is willing to reproduce "Lucia" in brass, recognizing the marvelous effectiveness of the interpretation. He has not yet been persuaded, however, to request the navy department for an allowance of ammunition that will permit him to reproduce the Anvil Chorus a la Gilmore. The concert here will take place on the afternoon and evening of Sunday, October 29, at the armory. The afternoon concert will begin at 3:30 and the evening concert at 7:30 in order not to interfere with church services.

Useful hints for keeping your car fit for fall motoring

Have brakes relined if they are at all doubtful

It is a wise man who checks up on his brakes at regular intervals. When they need relining, don't postpone it.

Rusco Brake Lining holds just as well in wet as in dry weather because there is no rubber in it. It is safe. It is economical because it wears longer, and it wears longer because it contains no stitching, or "gutting" threads that quickly break. To an unraveled thread, touch a lighted match; the thread will not burn, which proves it is made of good asbestos, as it should be.

We guarantee Rusco Brake Lining to be of uniform, unfailing quality and to give satisfactory service. To this end, we spin our own asbestos yarn and make our own asbestos and brass wire threads. We even made our own special looms. Reline your brakes with Rusco and be sure!

You can have dependable emergency brakes on your Ford

PATENTED Rusco Brake Plates make Rusco Emergency Brakes for Fords immensely powerful. The cams which expand the brake bands, jam every ounce of braking power against the brake drums. Without the patented Brake Plates, the braking power would not be half as great, because then one end of each brake band would buckle under the cam and not touch the brake drums at all.

Rusco Emergency Brakes at $2.50 with the patented Brake Plates, and with Rusco Brake Lining, are easy to install; dependable; give longer service; save the foot brake; are easy to reline; and safe in emergencies.

Your dealer can supply these products

Rusco products are on sale at most every garage and at most automobile accessory shops and departments. Probably your own garageman or accessory dealer carries them. They can show you the different Rusco products and explain the quality of each to you in detail, from the burning match test on brake lining to an explanation in detail of how the hinge in the Non-Chatter Band works. Ask for Rusco first, and be sure of quality and satisfaction. They are both guaranteed.

HOOD LACING
With Rusco Hood Lacing you can silence many an annoying squeak. Solid woven lacing. Cheaper and stronger than leather. Will not crack. Guaranteed to stay soft, flexible and quiet.

"If winter comes"

Some thoughts to be posted on the garagewall

By GEORGE W. SUTTON, JR.

BRAKES
The motorist who undertakes a season of fall and winter driving over wet and snowy roads without having his brakes thoroughly overhauled and fitted with the best brake lining obtainable is in a class with the aviator who jumps from "plane to plane" a mile in the air—except that the aviator gets paid for it.

A dragging brake helps you to waste money; a slipping brake helps you to collect on your accident insurance.

CLUTCHES
Few know it, but the clutch lives on it. But, strangely enough, it dies with too little or too much. Only the proper clutch facing and proper care can keep the clutch on the job efficiently.

The motorist who drives with his foot on the clutch pedal will win any "economy" runs. The practice of "riding the clutch" means a short life and a merry one for that worthy device.

LUBRICATION
Never forget that two-thirds of all motor breakdowns are caused by improper or insufficient lubrication. When the manufacturer of your car specifies a change in the grade of oil for winter driving, he knows what he is talking about.

THE FAN BELT
To most drivers, the fan belt is only a greasy piece of leather or webbing. But to the wise motorist, it represents a combination of lungs, wind-pipe, snoring coils and life preserver to his engine. So, he sees that it is made of the best materials obtainable and treats it accordingly.

COLD WINDS
By all means, give your car some winter clothes, meaning a radiator and hood-cover. But these things will not prevent the engine from freezing if you park the car with the wind blowing from the rear, in which case the drip pan becomes a regular wind scoop to guide the icy breezes to your water jackets. In other words, in winter always park your car facing the wind.

A discharged, or partially discharged, battery seems to have no difficulty freezing up in winter, but a fully charged one does not.

Some lovely wreaths have been woven for motorists who speed around blind curves in winter.

Better carry a Tow line with you for emergencies

You never know when you'll need a tow. A Rusco Tow Line is easy to carry because it takes so little space. It is a real friend if you slide into a ditch or back off the road into loose sand. These are things which are likely to happen, even if you never completely break down and never have to be towed all the way home. Being towed just a few feet may be worth a dozen times the cost of the Tow Line. Hitch to any passing car and be pulled back quickly to the crown of the road.

Rusco Tow Line is legal towing length; strong as steel cable; compact as an inner tube. Only $4.00. Carry one in your car.

Clutch Facings in cold weather

A SLIPPING clutch takes the joy out of fall motoring, and makes it impossible to glide up long hills on a glorious October day. Rusco Clutch Facings never slip. They engage very smoothly and though they hold absolutely fast, they never "freeze."

Rusco Clutch Facings are 100% asbestos and brass wire. They are woven greatly oversize and compressed in hydraulic presses. This simply puts more material in the same space and insures longer, more economical wear.

Buy quality accessories

MOTOR accessories should be made as carefully as the finest cars on the road. Rusco goes on that principle. The fact that Rusco makes its own looms and asbestos yarn for Brake Lining is an indication of the unfailing quality back of all Rusco products. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Other Rusco products which help to keep cars fit

Rusco Fan Belts are made with a "twill" or diagonal weave which lessens the tendency to stretch, insures true running on the pulleys and prevents cracking. They are woven endless, stretched at the factory to proper size and mounted on sticks. Carry a spare one with you.

There are also Rusco Tire Straps that stay jet black and never lose tires; TAB-BUCKLER Straps that can be made in a minute for any purpose; and Rusco Transmission Lining for Fords, solidly woven and exceptionally durable.

CITRUS FRUITS BY-PRODUCTS

Experts Have Shown How Profits to Growers From Materials Once Waste Can Be Made.

To offset the serious losses in the citrus fruit industry occurring through bruised, undersized or oversized oranges, grapefruit and lemons usually allowed to go to waste, the bureau of chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture has investigated methods for getting by-products that will return a profit to the grower. Some of these products require a preliminary expense for equipment, but it has been demonstrated that the investment can soon be made profitable.

Grapefruit juice, which is increasing in popularity, can be easily made if directions for pressing, straining, pasteurizing, clarifying, sweetening and bottling the juice are carefully followed. These directions may be obtained from the department.

A blend of grapefruit juice with loganberry juice has been found popular. Orange vinegar is a satisfactory substitute for apple vinegar and should be made in districts where many cull oranges would otherwise be a total loss. Citric acid is a valuable commercial article which can be made from cull lemons or lemons if proper apparatus is installed.

Other by-products from citrus fruits often wasted include candied citrus peel, for use as a confection or by bakers in place of citron, marmalades, jellies, butters and pectin.

Which Car For You?

How can you decide without making the 12 vital tests of performance? If you don't, you must depend largely upon guess-work. Why not know exactly what different cars can do? The Marmon score-card makes it possible for you to judge cars by the method used by leading automotive engineers. Come in and get a score-card or telephone for us to mail you one. FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR FATHER SCULLY.

The Catholic Churches of Allaben and Phenicia will give a farewell reception to their departing pastor, the Rev. Joseph Scully, on Thursday evening of this week in the Shandegon Hall, at which time a chicken supper will be served. Father Scully was recently assigned to St. Mary's Church, this city, to succeed the Very Rev. John J. Hickey, and the congregation of St. Mary's will greet him at a reception in St. Mary's School Hall on Monday evening, October 30. Father Scully takes up his new duties at St. Mary's on Sunday, October 29.

Federation Executive Meeting.

Owing to the closing of the Kingston City Library for improvements, the meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs will be held in one of the Y. M. C. A. parlors tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

PART OF COSTS IN STILLMAN CASE

Justice Morschauer Awards Referee Gleason $22,200 and John E. Mack, Guy's Guardian, $25,000. By Telegram to The Freeman. White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Supreme Court Justice Morschauer, has awarded John E. Mack, guardian of Baby Guy Stillman, $25,000 for his services in defending the infant against the charge of illegitimacy brought by James A. Stillman in his suit for divorce from Mrs. Anne U. Stillman. He also allowed Mr. Mack $4,901.14, which the guardian reported he had expended in Guy's behalf. The court allowed Referee Daniel J. Gleason, who heard evidence in the case compensation at the rate of $150 a day for 148 days, devoted to the case, a total of $22,200. Justice Morschauer also signed the final order in Stillman's divorce suit, denying him a divorce and affirming the legitimacy of Baby Guy, who Stillman had alleged to be the son of Frederick K. Beauvais, Indian guide named correspondent. Counsel for Stillman had fought the granting of compensation to Guardian Mack, contending he was entitled only to his "taxable costs" in the case. They also had contested Referee Gleason's fees as "exorbitant."

Besides his fees as referee, Mr. Gleason was allowed $1,700 to pay stenographers who made the record. Tit for Tat. This young woman has an apartment, and the young man a roadster. Last winter they spent most of their evenings sitting by her cozy fireplace. But this summer they have spent them in his roadster. The other evening he said at the end of a long drive: "I can hardly wait for cold weather to come. It is so much more pleasant for me to sit beside your cozy fireplace and—"

"Oh," she interrupted him coolly. "That is because you don't have to fret over a gasoline bill, then. But I just want you to know I worried as much about my coal bill then as you do now over your gas bill for your old car."

There was silence for a few minutes, and then he said in a mocking voice: "Yes, I agree, but it's much more comfortable to fret and sweat in winter."

"Now they are fretting and sweating in different parts of town.—Indianapolis News.

Deadly Snake in London "Zoo." Among the new arrivals at the zoo the most interesting is a species of snake known as the "Tree Cobra," according to the London Morning Post. It came from East Africa and is related to the cobras and other well-known venomous but harmless-looking snakes, and it's bite is as deadly as that of any of its kindred. The bones of the upper jaw, which carries the great fangs, are peculiarly modified, and in that respect as well as in having a pair of large fangs in the lower jaw, which adds to the tenacity of its grip, it differs from all its allies. It is an expert climber, and from its habit of living to a great extent in trees it is called the tree cobra.

Good Word for Octopus. "The octopus not only is not dangerous, but it is a very timid creature," says Professor Jouhlin, director of the French technical bureau of fisheries. An unusual number of members of the octopus family has come up on the French shore of the English channel recently, and bathers have been afraid to go into the water. Civilization Unjustly Blamed. U.S. MARINE BAND'S PROGRAMS HERE

The programs to be given by the U. S. Marine Band at the concerts to be given in the armory in this city on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 and Sunday evening at 9 for the benefit of the boys' work and crippled children fund of the Kingston Rotary Club are as follows:

AFTERNOON PROGRAM.

Soloist: Principal Musician, Robert E. Clark

1. Overture "Egmont".....

The Egmont Overture offers a combination of the world's greatest intellectual and emotional genius. It is the expression of the Master Mozart, interpreted by the Master Musician, Robert E. Clark.

2. Serenade "Spring Morning".....

A creation revealing the characteristic delicacy of the composer who excels in the gracefully poetic styles of melody.

3. Trombone Solo "Ecstasy of Spring".....

Principal Musician Robert E. Clark. An original composition of great popular charm, by the soloist himself. It shows the range of the instrument, the technical side of the instrument of which he is the world's greatest exponent.

4. Grand Scenes from "Maison Lescaut".....

While Halévy, Balfe and Massenet have made the story of woman's fickleness, so touchingly told by Abbe Prevost, the subject of the romantic musical drama, it remained for Puccini to give it the melodious setting that abides in modern interest. The opera was first performed at Turin, 1888. Puccini kept in close touch with the American Theater and visited this country in 1907 when "Maison Lescaut" was produced at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. So composer has studied American taste in musical art more closely and deferentially than Puccini.

INTERMISSION.

5. "Marche Slav"..... Peter Tschickowsky

Tschickowsky who died in St. Petersburg in 1908, leaving to the world a rich legacy of music, is the embodiment of the Slavonic spirit in music. The Marche Slav is an intensified creation of the new Russian school. It depicts the national temperament with a virility which makes it a historic document. It is a tone drama and with all its somberness, most popular.

6. Waltz "The Beautiful Blue Danube"..... Johann Strauss

No waltz has sung its way into the heart of the world so completely as "The Blue Danube." It is the very essence of the Viennese mood, blending gaiety with sentiment. It is this waltz which gave Strauss the undisputed title of "The Waltz King of the World."

7. "War Puffs and King's Prayer," from "Lohengrin"..... Richard Wagner

Lohengrin was first performed August 28, at Weimar under direction of Liszt. It is a typical example of the romantic phase of Richard Wagner's gifts as a musician and a poet. It reflects in music the story of the Holy Grail, the grain of hallowed tradition from whose depth has flowed a wondrous wealth of reverential inspiration.

8. The Star Spangled Banner, Our National Anthem.

EVENING PROGRAM.

Soloist: Principal Musician, Arthur S. Witcomb.

1. Overture "Der Freischütz"..... Carl Maria von Weber

An old story, written by Johann Friedrich Kind, given to the world by the story for his enduring work, "Der Freischütz." The overture is a portrayal in music of a varied play of fascinating fancy, blending mysticism with human romance.

2. "Hymn to the Sun"..... Rimsky-Korsakov

Rimsky-Korsakov is an exemplification of the modern Russian school. "The Hymn to the Sun" is distinguished by a bold, even defiant, and romantic treatment which illustrates the intellectual impulse of his country. The hymn is descriptive of the emotions which arise when the magnitude of the sun is remembered.

3. Solo for Cornet "La Reine d'Amour"..... Hardt-Millars

Principal Musician, Arthur S. Witcomb. Especially suited for the cornet by the English Composer, Millars. It displays the capacity of the soloist to its utmost, at the same time revealing exquisite charm of melody.

4. Tone Poem, "Finlandia"..... Jean Sibelius

Jean Sibelius made a reverent study of the songs of his native Finland. The tone poem "Finlandia" is a crystallization of art and temperament which reproduced in his opera and symphony the feeling of the people whom he loved.

INTERMISSION.

5. "Entrance of the Gods in Walhalla"..... from "The Ring Cycle"..... Richard Wagner

"The Ring Cycle" is a composition particularly dear to the admirers of Richard Wagner. It is described as the "fore evening of his tetralogy, the 'Ring des Nibelungen' which the poet-composer regarded as the most important products of his genius. The Ring Cycle refers to the intimate treasure under the Rhine, that was sought by the gods themselves.

6. Ballet Music, "Coppelia"..... Leo Delibes

The Ballet Music from "Coppelia" contributes to the program a touch of graceful melody and a touch of a composer whose ballet music has set the standard of this style of expression for all time.

7. "Prelude in C Minor"..... Sergei Rachmaninoff

Rachmaninoff is a Russian, dear to the pianist, yet of commanding eminence in concert effect. "Prelude" is a masterpiece which covers an impression of his concentrated powers.

8. Hungarian Rhapsody, (Pesther Carnival)

Liszt immortalized Magyar music in his Hungarian Rhapsodies. The "Pesther Carnival" is a descriptive, melody poem dealing with images of a noisy mingled with deep sentiment. It is one of the greatest examples of the musical idealization of the folk song.

9. The Star Spangled Banner, Our National Anthem.

"MORMON MENACE" IS DESCRIBED

Mrs. Shepard, Utah "Dry" Leader, "Double-Crossed" by That Sect, Lectures on Its Operations—Polygamy Persists and Financial Power Is Tremendous.

At Trinity M. E. Church on last Sunday evening Mrs. Lulu Loveland Shepard gave her first series of talks to men and women on "The Menace of Mormonism."

For a considerable number of years Mrs. Shepard was president of the W. C. T. U. of the state of Utah and while engaged in a very intensive campaign to make Utah dry she came into close contact with the Mormons. The Mormons, she said, pretended for a long while that they were in favor of state-wide prohibition and invited Mrs. Shepard to speak in their temples and present her cause to their constituents. This went on for a number of years until the only thing which was needed to make Utah dry was the signing of a dry law by the governor of the state. However, instead of signing this law the governor vetoed it at the command of the "prophet" of the Mormon Church which trickery so impressed Mrs. Shepard that she determined from that time forth to fight the Mormons and all they stood for to the best of her ability.

The Mormons are the wealthiest religious sect on the face of the earth. They receive their money in various ways, the most outstanding of which is their method of collecting a tithe of every person's income. The Mormon officials do not allow their people to figure out what the tithe of their income is themselves and then put the same in the collection at the regular church services, but instead the officials keep close tabs on the income of each individual and then go around and collect it from them. In this manner the Mormon church last year raised over $13,000,000. Besides this they own all the natural resources and public utilities in the state of Utah and large sugar plantations in Cuba and the Philippines from the operation of which they receive a large annual income. During the war-time period Mrs. Shepard stated that the Mormons had absolute control of the sugar market throughout the country, having stored enormous amounts in storehouses at Salt Lake City and refusing to release the same until the price had mounted up to 32 cents a pound. This matter was brought to the attention of the government officials and United States Senator Reed Smoot along with some of the other high officials of the church was indicted by a Federal grand jury and released on bail, but up to this time they have never been brought to trial nor did any of the newspapers print any account of the same.

The Mormon Church at the present time has a membership of 1,000,000 people in the United States and 1,500,000 in Europe. Naturally most of the members in the United States are found in the state of Utah, but they are by no means confined to this state. One of every three of their disciples may be found in every city and village throughout the country and 19,000 of them may be found in the city of Brooklyn. In fact Mrs. Shepard came into contact with two Mormons at her afternoon meeting for women only at the Y. M. & A. in this city last Sunday. The Mormon Church has 5,000 missionaries scattered throughout this country and Europe who travel in groups of two.

The Mormons have a very effective way of influencing tourists who come to Salt Lake City to give their religious serious consideration. Every day at noon they have a concert at their largest temple on one of the greatest organs in the world. This concert lasts for approximately three-quarters of an hour, after which the right psychological effect having been produced, one of their preachers gets up and tells in a very suave manner what a wonderful and harmless thing the Mormon religion is. In this manner they win many converts to their cause because of the fact that they merely describe the things which they believe in which do not conflict with the beliefs of other denominations and do not bring out the radical points of difference.

Back in 1915, during the Reed Smoot investigation, Joseph Smith, the "prophet" of the Mormon Church, was put on the witness stand of the United States senate and brazenly gave out the information that he realized he was violating both the laws of God and man when he practiced polygamy but that he expected to continue to do so as long as he lived. Was he put on trial for this? Yes, he was put on trial, found guilty and fined $300 by one of the courts of Utah. Mrs. Shepard stated that it was next to impossible to convict a man of polygamy in the state of Utah because you could not find a district attorney who would prosecute him, a judge that would try him or a juryman that would return a verdict against him, as they are all Mormons.

United States Senator Reed Smoot is a Mormon through and through and he will become chairman of the senate committee on finances when the new congress convenes as Senator McCumber, the present chairman, was not re-nominated by his constituents. This is what the Mormons have been looking forward to for a long time as they now will have their hands on the finances of the nation.

Mrs. Shepard will again speak on the same subject Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

STATE WORK FOR DISABLED VETS

Commission Has Been Signally Successful—4,000 Aided and Half of Money Left—Small Administration Cost.

By (Raymond L. Borst.)

By Telegraph to the Freeman. Albany, Oct. 25.—During the six months that the New York State Veterans' Relief Commission has been in existence, approximately 4,000 disabled veterans of the World War have been helped financially and only one-half of the $1,000,000 appropriated has been spent. This announcement was made today by Col. H. J. Cookinham, Jr., of Utica, director of the commission.

Through the activities of former service men who were members of the legislature a law was passed at the last session authorizing the establishment of the commission and appropriating $1,000,000 for the work. Probably never before in the state's history has a state department functioned more economically and with less red tape than this commission.

There are two principal reasons why the commission has been so signally successful in its work. One is that it is absolutely non-political and is directed and virtually all of the work performed by men who were in the World War. The only interest of the men who are directing the work of the commission is to see to it that every disabled veteran who is entitled to relief gets a square deal, and gets it just as quickly as possible.

The second reason for the commission's success is that not one cent is spent by the commission unless absolutely necessary. In the half year that the commission has been functioning it has cost the state a little less than $4,000 a month for the work. This is regarded in state circles as a very small amount considering the character of work which is being performed.

In every Assembly district in the state there is a commissioner who is aiding in the work, but who is serving without pay. The kind of service which the men in the Assembly districts are giving would cost the state thousands of dollars each month, were the state to buy that service. In virtually every instance the men in the Assembly districts who are aiding in the work are former service men.

"The spirit of service is the answer to it all," said Col. Cookinham. The men who are helping us in this work learned, during the World War, what real service means, and to their help we owe much."

In Major C. S. Martin of Oswego, Col. Cookinham has an able assistant. Much of the detail work is left to Major Martin and he always has come through with colors flying. Both Col. Cookinham and Major Martin have the war habit. They were in the mix-up with Spain, went to the Mexican border and served on fighting fronts in the World War, the former with an anti-aircraft unit, and the latter with a machine gun unit of the grand old Twenty-seventh division in the British sector.

Under the law to be eligible for aid an applicant must have served in the army, navy or marine corps for some period between April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918, and have been a resident of this state when he went into service. He must have been honorably discharged, suffering from sickness or inability incurred in or from his war service. Also he must have been out of work 14 days prior to his application for aid.

The law limits the amount of relief to an applicant to a total of $250. If he is married he may receive this in monthly installments of $45, if single $30.

K. H. S. HONOR LIST FOR FIRST PERIOD

List of Honor Students Rapidly Growing—Result of Last June's Regents Examinations is of High Standing.

Last week the report cards for the first six weeks work were distributed at the high school. The tales told by the cards were nearly all favorable. The list of honor students has again increased. In connection with the list of honor students of this term, it will be interesting to note the results of last June's regents examinations. Kingston High School claimed 1,526 papers, that is, that number were sent to Albany marked with a passing grade. Of this number 1,554 or 98 per cent were accepted by the board of regents. These figures, together with the increasing numbers on the honor list, speak very well for the scholastic standing of the local high school.

The following is the list of honor students for the first six weeks:

All marks 95 per cent and above classified as highest honor students.

Studebaker

SPECIAL-SIX SEDAN

$2050

Judge Its Quality—Then Price

There's something alluring about the Studebaker Special-Six Sedan.

You notice it when you pass one on the street. It grows on you as you examine the car's details. It becomes even more pronounced when you take the wheel and drive it.

No wonder the Special-Six Sedan carries such an appeal! Its beauty of line, finish and appointments fascinates you. The delightful harmony of color in the upholstery, the completeness of the appointments and the soft carpeting afford real elegance—and at a new low price.

The body is a striking example of the handicraft of Studebaker artisans. Built in Studebaker plants where the coachmaker's art has been handed down from father to son for more than two generations.

It is mounted on the same dependable Special-Six chassis that has added new fame to the name Studebaker wherever cars are known.

Compare its appearance, its endurance records, its comfort, its equipment and its recognized reliability with any car within hundreds of dollars of its price. Judge it on quality first—then price—because price alone is no indication of its intrinsic value.

You can have confidence in the quality of Studebaker cars—in the 70 years of business success and manufacturing integrity back of them—and in the sterling dollar-for-dollar value built into them.

The name Studebaker on your car insures satisfaction!

Above: Sen. W. H. Harris. Below: Gov. T. W. Hardwick.

Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, who was soundly beaten in the primaries to select a successor to the late Thomas E. Watson, junior U. S. Senator for Georgia, has issued a statement denouncing Dr. William J. Harris, senior Senator from the state, as a "liar" and "coward" and offering him "any satisfaction" he wishes. The controversy arose over the election.

INTERLOCUTORY DIVORCE DECREE FOR F. STORK

An interlocutory decree of divorce has been granted plaintiff, Frederick Stork in his action for absolute divorce by Supreme Court Justice Wesley O. Howard at special term of supreme court at Troy, against his wife Christina E. Stork. The parties who reside at Woodstock were married in New York city, April 10, 1917, and he is 62 years of age and she 32 years. There is one child, Margaret H. C. Stork, aged one year. The plaintiff is awarded the care and maintenance of the child with privilege to defendant Christina E. Stork to take control of and retain possession of such Margaret H. C. Stork for six months during any year. The statutory act on which the action was brought occurred in September, 1922, at Woodstock. William H. Grogan is attorney for the plaintiff.

HURLEY HOUSE IS UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

The Hurley House, at Old Hurley, has been sold by John M. Wild, the owner, to August Lender and Michael Totich, who have been conducting The Desserts at Far Rockaway, Long Island. They will make extensive alterations to the house, which will undergo a thorough overhauling, and all modern improvements will be installed, after which the house will be reopened to the public, catering especially to the tourist trade. The sale of the property was made through the N. B. Gross realty brokerage of No. 555 Broadway.

Hammas in Two Transfers.

Lester J. Hamma and Mary A. Hamma have conveyed to Peter Jordan and Hilda his wife of Kingston, through the real estate agency of W. Arthur Farrar of Downs street, a parcel of land on the westerly side of the Ellenville-Kingston state road in Hurley, adjoining the lands of Charles W. Cutler.

Helen Wallace of Weehawken, N. J., has sold through W. Arthur Farrar, real estate broker, to Lester J. Hamma and wife of the city of Hurley a property in the city of Kingston on the southerly side of Spring street.

PLANNING FOR BOYS CONFERENCE

Auxiliary of the Local Y. M. C. A. Has Offered Its Services and Plans Are Nearing Completion—Need of More Entertainers.

The plans for entertaining the Older Boys' Conference on December 1st, 2nd and 3rd, are progressing very rapidly. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the local Y. M. C. A. have taken complete charge of the banquet on Saturday evening. The Girls' Auxiliary of the H. Y. Club have voted to serve two meals, for the boys, on Friday evening and Saturday noon.

Each church has been asked to appoint a delegate as a member of the Hospitality committee. This committee will assume the task of securing entertainment in the homes for the visiting delegates. As there are to be only 250 delegates, the usual number being about 300, this will not be a very heavy one. The boys prefer to stay in two or three room houses, which makes it much easier for the committee to secure a room than a hotel. The entertainment consists of singing and breakfast for two nights and a Sunday dinner.

In other cities where these conferences have been held, those who have had sons in their homes have been very happy that they are in their homes and have been able to have the conference return to their city again.

Any persons in the city who would be willing to entertain boys for the conference are asked to call the new secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and will be very glad to give full information and assign boys to your home.

The St. James Methodist Episcopal Church will be the conference headquarters.

AS TO DIVISION OF LABOR

With Changing Circumstances, Generally Accepted Definition Has Undergone Many Changes.

The division of labor is one of the principles evolved from the study of political economy, or economics, and is based on the claim that industry can best be carried on when each man has a special work to do. Constant practice in doing the same thing leads to a perfection which could not otherwise be attained. Though the name of Adam Smith (1723-1790), author of "The Wealth of Nations," has been closely associated with the principle of the division of labor, the importance of it has been recognized before, notably by Plato, (427-367 B. C.), in his "Republic," and by Adam Ferguson (1723-1816) in his "History of Civil Society." In modern industry very little is due to the direct operation of the human hand; almost everything is done by a machine. The development of steam and electricity as the motive power both of production and exchange, has along with the parallel development of machinery completely revolutionized the conditions of industry, necessitating a division of labor on a far wider basis than that contemplated by Adam Smith. At the present day it is not a mere question of personal adaptation, but of local, national and international fitness and specialization for carrying on different forms of industry. Division of labor has become only a factor in the wider problem of the organization of labor, necessary to the success of every great industrial undertaking.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WRITER'S NAME WILL LIVE

Superficial Critics Have Misjudged the Work Given to the World by Sir Walter Raleigh.

It is something of a paradox that the last work of Sir Walter Raleigh, "The War in the Air," should have been the history of a great modern adventure written upon a large scale. To those who knew Raleigh, whose death a vast number of friends and disciples are deploring, only by his works, he may have seemed somewhat detached from the life about him, and intent upon the theories and elegances of style.

The most of his books deal with the past in which the superficial critic might think Raleigh was finding an escape from reality. The superficial critic of course would have been wrong.

Like all good writers, Raleigh had an intense interest in all that was about him. Whatever he read he put always to the test of life, and thus found the best, the only commentary for the books which he loved full well. From "Musings Without Method" in Blackwood's Magazine.

Northlife as a Boy.

When Northlife, Alfred Harnsworth by name, was a young boy the family lived at St. Johns Wood, next to a select seminary for girls of twelve to sixteen, and frequently the boys' ball would be knocked over the fence into the seminary garden, with ensuing remonstrance from the principal. Once when the ball came over the fence into the garden, the story goes, a graceful dark-eyed girl of thirteen took possession of it, and when Harold Harnsworth clambered after it she refused to give it up. Later Alfred literally dropped in and by a combination of tact and blarney not only got the ball but got the girl's confidence and promise to return the ball whenever it again came over into the garden. Tradition has it that six years later she became Mrs. Alfred Harnsworth.—Kansas City Star.

Gold Found in Nova Scotia.

Consul McEwen at Yarmouth, N. S., says it is reported that rich gold-bearing quartz has been struck on property at Malega Barrens, Queens county, in the Yarmouth consular district. The preliminary development was concluded recently, and quartz is now being taken out and crushed. It is also reported that a rich strike has been made in areas on the "South Rabbit" lead, Malega Barrens, and that there have been eleven men employed on the workings since early spring. On July 26 a shot fired opened up a five-foot lead of quartz showing rich gold specimens.

What Did He Get Then?

Benny, small son of a Montgomery county family, is at the age when instruction on etiquette seems necessary. Sunday, the family was invited out for dinner. While at the table, the hostess served Benny with a second piece of cake. On his noncommittal acceptance of the favor, he was admonished by his mother: "Now, what do you say, Benny?" Hastily gulping down the last fragment of the second slice, Benny replied, with difficulty: "Got any more?" — Indianapolis News.

New Attraction.

A man who had been engaged to write a circus poster suddenly found himself at a loss for a fresh adjective. "See here," he said to his employer, "I don't know what to say about this panther. Have you a thesaurus?" "The manager of the circus looked at him with suspicion. "No, sir, I have not," he said, "and I don't think I shall do anything about getting one this year. I never heard of a circus having one, either, and I've known some good shows. Where are they raised, anyway, I'd like to know?" — Pittsburgh Dispatch.

PLAN FLOODLIGHTS ON TRAIN

Illumination of Route Said to Be in Contemplation by a Leading Railroad System.

Brilliant night illumination of its picture-que transcontinental route is the plan contemplated by a large railroad system in this country, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The idea, as conceived at present, is to equip the observation coaches of its fast limited trains with a battery of powerful floodlights. These lights would be arranged to cover a range of approximately 160 degrees, with sufficient height and depth to illuminate the canyons, rivers, lakes and mountains in the vicinity of the right of way, as the train rushes on through the night. Power for operating the lamps would be furnished by the axle-driven generators with which railroad cars are now commonly equipped, and which ordinarily are never used to their full capacity.

Although thus far the location of the floodlights has been confined to the observation car, certain officials have suggested the advisability of placing them along the full length of the train. Also, further to enhance the effect, it has been proposed to employ lamps, or reflectors of various colors, which would undoubtedly yield fairylike scenes, particularly when directed upon snow covered surfaces. Railroad men in authority have nothing but praise for the scheme, and while eagerly awaiting the completion of the initial floodlighting equipment, have pointed out the fact that there is an additional and practical value of the brilliant lights as a protection against rear-end collisions.

Italy Leads in Violins.

The best violin strings have always come from Italy. Who this should be is something of a mystery, but in the making of strings as in the making of violins, Italy has always led the world.

Exide BATTERIES

Sending your words through space

If shipwreck or accident damaged the electric generator that sends a wireless message, and were no other power available, many lives might pay the penalty. For this reason wireless stations on land and sea have storage batteries for reserve power.

Most of the government and commercial wireless stations are equipped with Exides.

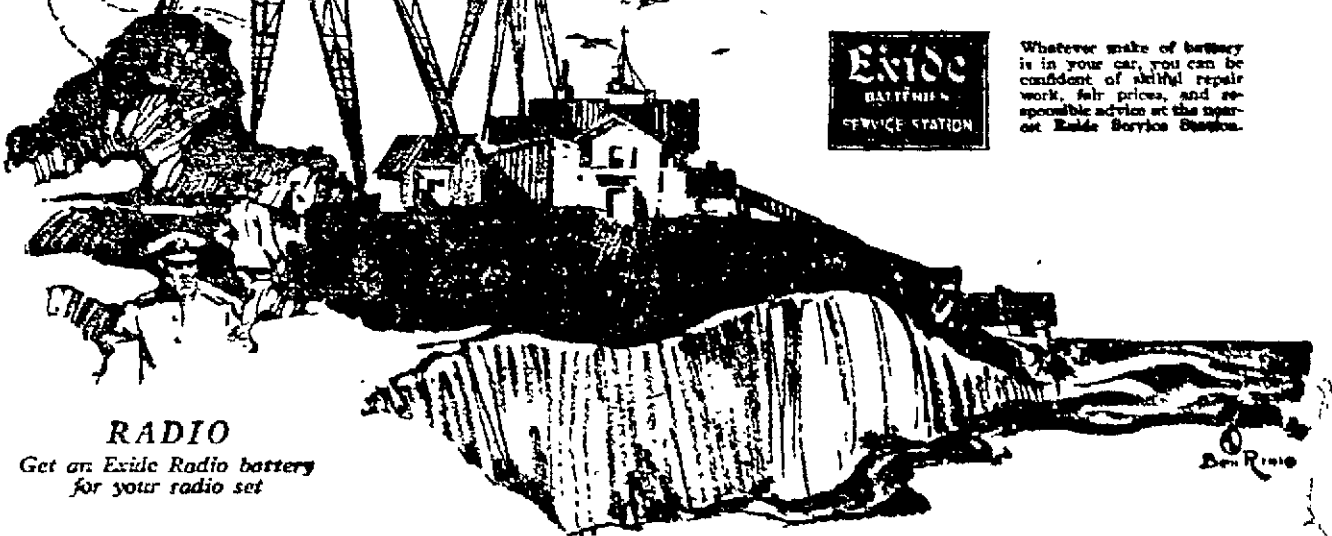

A majority of the farms and country homes lighted by small electric plants get their current from Exide Batteries. Nearly every message sent over the telephone system is carried by the current from an Exide Battery.

The same rugged reliability that makes Exide Batteries dominant in every industry where batteries are used is built into the Exide made for your automobile.

Exide Service Stations are equipped to be useful to you, not only in putting the right battery into your car, but in giving skilful attention to whatever make of battery you are now using.

Inquiries about batteries other than automobile batteries should be addressed to

SPARROW-HAWKS GOT SNAKE

Reptile Seemed to Have Small Chance Against the Little Though Fierce Birds.

We soon found that there were two sparrow-hawks about, and by the 7th of March it seemed evident that they were mated and were considering the locality as a summer residence.

We now saw them almost daily, and the perfect domestic harmony, indeed I should say affection, shown between them, and the tender care and gallantry on the part of the male, would seem to suggest a high plane of evolution, and reminds one again that all the world is kin. Indeed, what have we of altruism which may not have its beginning in the humblest creature?

In accord with history and tradition the male was chief hunter, but very often shared the game with his mate after the "killing." Rushing to the back window, attracted by a loud call of killee, killee, killee, killee, we would frequently see him returning from the hunt with a rat, a mouse, or an English sparrow, and it must be confessed that even small song-birds were not strictly prohibited under his liberal interpretation of the law. In a moment the female would light on a perch nearby, whereupon the male would immediately remove the mouse from his talons, with which the prey is almost always carried, and politely deliver it to his mate from his beak.

One bright, sunny afternoon there was an unusually excited call heard. It seemed that a garter-snake had eluded forth from its hiding place to enjoy the early spring warmth, a circumstance which proved more fortunate for the "early bird" than for the early snake. It was most picturesque and exciting even to a spectator to see this fierce little bird, slightly smaller than a flicker, flying about from tree to tree as if in search of a more favorable stand, struggling with his writhing prey. When the snake had been decapitated and several inches of its length devoured, it seemed sufficiently subdued to be offered to the mate, although it was still wriggling when she accepted the offering. She ate it with evident relish, holding it firmly on the branch under her foot while she pulled off small pieces. "When the tail was reached it became very difficult to hold this slender, tapering morsel," S. Harsted Chubb in Scribner's.

Was Marcus Aurelius a Persecutor? Under the reign of the prince-philosopher, Marcus Aurelius, were the Christians persecuted? After Roman, Linsenmayer and Allard have charged the memory of that emperor with this infamy, now A. P. Lemercier, professor of Caen, in a preface to his just published edition of his "Penses," at the hand of history, contests the statements of these savants. According to him, the instructions given by Marcus Aurelius to the legate of Lyons were of a political and not a religious nature. Besides, the prince was then ill, and it was impossible for him to control the legate's reports. Several texts intimate that Marcus Aurelius alleviated certain measures taken against the Christians and that those which he dictated were perhaps exceeded. The discussion bears on very remote facts. If Marcus Aurelius had had foreknowledge of the controversy he would undoubtedly have cried with Antisthenes: "It is a royal virtue to act well and to let calumny run its course."

The Old Family Toddy.

According to a rural paper a central Kentucky man prides himself in the possession of a "toddy glass" that has been in his family for over a century. The "toddy glass" recalls an old Kentucky custom that was an institution down to ante-bellum days.

The "toddy glass" was utilized for the mixing of an old-fashioned toddy that was passed around and partaken of by company and the family. The common toddy existed before the sanitary crusade started and individual toddies became the vogue. In these days even if prohibition did not stand in the way, the old-time "toddy glass" likely would be placed under the health law along with the common drinking cup.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

New Kind of Auto.

David Cook, age five, of Wabash, has been around automobiles ever since he was born, but was never at Lake Wawasee until last Sunday. A friend of the Cook family had the youngster out showing him the sights, and finally pointed out a sail boat which was traveling in the distance. For several minutes the boy was unable to find the boat. Suddenly he smiled it and said, "Oh, you mean that auto with the side curtains on!"

Since then he has been telling his playmates of the automobile which puts on side curtains and then runs on water.—Indianapolis News.

Steel Used in Railroad Cars.

One million, five hundred thousand tons of iron and steel were consumed in the production of 1,067,000 passenger cars and trains in the United States the past year. This amount of metal is approximately 4 per cent of the entire output of the mills of the nation.

Mixed.

The teacher had asked the children to bring in sentences containing certain words. One of the list was the word squash. It was almost fatal to the young woman's dignity when one little boy read from his paper: "Squash is what an Indian calls his wife."

Greece Produces Much Olive Oil.

In recent years Greece has become one of the most important olive oil producers in the world. Its production in 1921 was one-sixth that of all countries (final estimates placed the total world production of olive oil at 1,100,000 metric tons), about one-third that of Spain and Italy combined, and a little more than 35,000 metric tons larger than that of Tunisia, Portugal and France put together.

FORD AND BLUENOSE IN CLOSE RACE

The Ford had some trouble with the beach here mainsail which had been cut twice by orders of the racing committee. She seemed to be handicapped by her rig in the stiff wind and the Bluenose at 1:15 had widened her lead to fully a mile.

At 1:30 the Ford was noticeably gaining on the Bluenose. Both vessels had all sails set. A heavy sea was breaking over the bows of the schooners.

The Ford began to gain immediately after Captain Morrissey ran up his stay, after tacking to port. The Ford soon cut the Bluenose's lead of a mile to half that distance. The race had almost been conceded to the Canadian by American sympathizers, became an exciting contest.

Both vessels were forced to take a tack which they wished to avoid as they approached the second mark. The Ford was nearly 500 yards behind the Bluenose as the latter rounded the second mark at 2:13, unofficial time.

The Ford had considerably difficulty in rounding the mark when she reached it some eight minutes after the Bluenose. The Bluenose again widened her lead.

Local Deaths and Burials of Persons in This City.
George Eckert of Church street, Highland, who had been ill about a week, died Sunday morning.

Charles H. Kain died at his home, 166 Foxhall avenue, Tuesday, October 23. The funeral will be held from the late residence Thursday morning and from the High Falls Episcopal Church at 11 o'clock. Interment in Montrose Cemetery.

Mrs. Anna Riley died at her home in High Falls on Monday afternoon, October 23. The funeral will be held from the late residence Thursday morning and from the High Falls Episcopal Church at 11 o'clock. Interment at Kaserike.

William O. Halloran, who came from New York several years ago and has been living a retired life in a bungalow at Ashokan, was found dead by her this morning. Dr. J. W. DuMont notified Coroner Conner who went to Ashokan and made an investigation. Mr. Halloran was unmarried and had been ill for a number of years with tubercular trouble.

Levi McMullen, a native and well known resident of Marlborough, died after an operation in St. Luke's hospital, Newburgh, on Monday morning. He was in his 68th year. Besides his widow, he is survived by his son, Sidney McMullen, of Marlborough. Mr. McMullen was an elder of the First Presbyterian Church in Marlborough, and always took an active part in the church work. For a number of years he was assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. When in health he was seldom absent from the church services. Funeral services will be held in the Presbyterian Church, Marlborough, on Thursday at 2:30 o'clock.

The funeral of Josephine A. Keating was held this morning from her late home, No. 51 Syracuse street at 9 o'clock. From St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a high Mass of requiem was celebrated for the repose of her soul by the Rev. John P. Dunly. The funeral was very large and the floral tributes were profuse and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The bearers were William Geary, Joseph Doyle, Peter Kersmann, Joseph Manning, James Delan and John Roche. During the obituary of the Miss Margaret Keating, sang "Ave Verum" and the conclusion of the service Joseph L. Murphy rendered very feelingly, "Sing of That Blessed Home." The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. Father Duffy conducting the committal services.

The funeral of Christopher Stokes, who died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Stokes, at No. 125 Hunter street on Saturday evening last, following a short illness from pneumonia, was held from the family residence Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and from the Rondout Presbyterian Church at 2 o'clock, where the services were conducted by the Rev. Charles G. Ellis, Ph.D. The beautiful and spacious church chapel was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends who had gathered together to pay their last tribute of respect and esteem to one who had woven his love into their hearts. The Rev. Dr. Ellis paid a beautiful tribute to the deceased and spoke in a most impressive manner of the glory that comes to those who keep the faith and follow the teachings of the Divine Master. The floral tributes, which were both numerous and beautiful, spoke a silent message of the high esteem in which the deceased was held. Theasket bearers were Christopher Durman, Horbert Lyons, Charles Lyons and Earl Stokes. The remains were laid to rest in Pine View Cemetery at Stone Ridge, where the Rev. Dr. Ellis conducted the committal services.

Captain Davis Out of Saratoga Game.
Captain Davis, of the local high school football team, due to some minor injuries which have been bothering him for a good share of the season, very likely will not appear in the high school line up on Saturday when the local team takes on Saratoga Springs at the Athletic Field. This is merely a precautionary measure and there seems to be no doubt that he will be in excellent shape to play against Poughkeepsie a week from the coming Saturday.

SO ROMANTIC!
She: Couldn't you sit here and look at the sunset forever.
He: Yep, but it's about supper time now.

Tragedies Through Inadvertence.
Carrying a small sack containing blasting powder, a man was taking a sent in an Algiers tram when an explosion occurred through a spark from a cigarette. Ten persons were injured, four seriously. In Grocer's shop and casually struck a match to light his pipe. There was a violent explosion of chemicals, and three women so badly burned that they died in hospital.

Kitty's Treasure Trove.
A little girl in Cape Breton, while playing with a small kitten in an upstairs unfinished room managed to push kitty down behind the wall. When the little animal was fished out, it was found to have entangled in its claws a five dollar bill.

A Little Learning.
"Experience is the best teacher," quoted the Parlor Philosopher.
"Yes," agreed the Mere Man, "a fellow never realizes that he prefers a policeman and who can pass the entrance requirements. A certificate of qualification is given to each student on his graduation."

Letting Him Down Easy.
A rich man, lying on his death bed, called his chauffeur, who had been in his service for years, and said:
"Ah, Sykes, I am going on a long and rugged journey, worse than ever you drove me."

There's one comfort. It's down hill.

Will Change Street Names
New Orleans Thoroughfares to Be Rechristened During Legion National Convention.

Illuminated by 28,000 electric lights and decorated with flags, banners and streamers, the downtown streets of New Orleans will be in holiday regalia during the American Legion national convention next October.

For five days the conventional names of business streets will be thrown into the discard and they will be rechristened with designations more appropriate to the Legion path.

A court of honor of the nations will be established in ten blocks, each block being set aside for one of the principal allied powers with corresponding flags and decorations. Signs indicating the names of the states with their contributions in numbers of World War fighters, will feature the court of honor of the states, to be held on the principal residential street. American Legion avenue will be decorated with Legion banners and emblems.

Visiting doughboys in search of their buddies will be assisted in the establishment of the streets of the divisions. Suspended across the streets utilized for this purpose will be the insignias of all divisions in the World War army. Impromptu reunions of men who served in the same division will be held near the banners inscribed with their divisional insignia.

Red, white and blue electric bulbs will illuminate Canal street, the main thoroughfare, and all principal side streets.

NAVAL SHOW AT CONVENTION

Chairman Neville of Committee, Promises Big Display at New Orleans Meeting.

Delegates to the American Legion national convention at New Orleans are promised one of the most spectacular and interesting naval shows the nation has seen, according to Lieut. C. W. J. Neville, chairman of the convention naval affairs committee, who has been in Washington completing arrangements.

The promise of Assistant Secretary Roosevelt that he would send one battleship and a number of destroyers to participate in the program.

Arrangements have also been made to have the Eagle boats now at Jacksonville, St. Petersburg, Tampa, Galveston and St. Louis called into active service with a view to directing the annual cruise of the naval reserve men, who form their crews, to New Orleans.

A fleet of 12 hydroplanes will fly from Pensacola to New Orleans a few days before the convention and will remain on the river for exhibition flights.

While in Washington Commander Neville also arranged for invitation to the naval authorities of England, Canada, Australia, France, Italy, Brazil and Cuba for their attendance at the naval show. A flotilla of submarines, now en route to the East from Mare Island, Cal., also may be a feature of the naval display.

TESTAMENTS IN ODD FORMS
Extraordinary Wills That Have Been Admitted to Probate by Legal Authorities of England.

A will neatly engraved on the back of a naval identity disc of about the size of a half-crown was filed at Somerset house recently. It had been picked from the sea, and recorded a bequest to "My darling wife."

Many wills have been made on such things as coins, collars, hats and even shoes; but perhaps the most unique was the will left some years ago by a south of England farmer.

A sealed note indicated that his will would be found in a room upstairs. The room was searched without success until a woman, noticing that the wallpaper was loose at one corner, placed her hand upon it, and immediately the whole piece fell down. On the back of the paper were written the testator's wishes.

In a legal action some years ago, one of the exhibits in court was the top of a table on which bequests had been written, while in another case a woman wove the words in wool on a table cloth.

Milk Good for Teeth.
More extensive use of milk, green raw vegetables and fresh foods will help prevent tooth decay. Dr. Percy C. Howe, chief of the research laboratory of the Forsythe Dental Infirmary for Children, told the National Educational association in convention at Boston recently.

Modern foods are more likely to be deficient in calcium, which is contained in milk, than in any inorganic factor, he said. They are also apt to be deficient in vitamins. Animals fed on diets lacking these substances develop soft, loose, irregular teeth identical with the decayed teeth conditions in humans.

Decay of the teeth is probably the most common pathological condition that exists in civilized life and more individuals are engaged in the repair of teeth than in dealing with any other single human disturbance, he stated.

Down New Orleans was the word's gone out that the American Legion's "sweet singer," Charles Young, is going to be on the job again this year at the big national convention, and there's rejoicing. The thousands of Legionnaires who attended the Kansas City convention and expect to go also to New Orleans, have been asking for weeks whether Young will be there.

Young is official soloist with the National American Legion band, and announcement has just been made he will break away from his concert, oratorio and opera work to accompany the band on a tour, and appear with it at the convention. He perhaps is one of the best known of the younger singers, and at the Kansas City convention was in constant demand.

Young became a member of the crew of the U. S. S. Louisville in the early days of the World war, having enlisted in the navy. He then was chosen as soloist for the famous band of John Philip Sousa and toured with the band on its remarkable recruiting campaigns.

OPENING STATE
LEAGUE SEASON

At Armory Tonight With Cohoes as the Attraction—Visitors Have a Strong Defense and Contest Should Prove Interesting.

The opening of the local armory season, Frank Morgenweck's organization will play the Cohoes combination, opening the basketball season of the New York State League. The game is scheduled to start at 8:30 o'clock, just who will be in the lineup starting the game for the locals is not known. It is expected that the management will have a surprise in the way of bringing a star here to try out for the team. Cohoes has a very strong team and they should prove a good attraction. The showing the local ball tossers made in their exhibition contest a week ago is proof enough that they are in the league potent race this season. The usual dancing will be indulged in following the game. The season also opens tonight at Troy, with Albany as the attraction. On Friday night of this week Kingston plays its second contest, opposing the Senators on the Albany court.

KINGSTON DIDN'T "GET" COHEN

Time Someone Told Local High School What Sportsmanship Is, Says Newburgh Paper.

In an article captioned "Kingston Shows Very Poor Spirit," the Newburgh News says:

"Come, see us 'get' Cohen," was the invitation posted on the Kingston High School bulletin board to get the students out to the Kingston-Newburgh football game on Saturday. Several other such posters were heard of, but nothing definite can be learned about them. Any school which will allow even its athletic teams and its agents to make and post such advertisements cannot claim any high degree of sportsmanship. For the benefit of those who do not know that "get" meant in that poster the following sentence will explain it: "To get" a man in any game is to injure him so he will be unable to continue the game. That, it is said by Newburgh fellows, was the object of the poster which attracted Kingston High School students, to the game Saturday—to see Cohen injured as the Kingston team advertised it would do.

Sportsmanship is supposed to be high in the Central Hudson Valley Interscholastic League in all sports, but the actions of the Kingstonites would not go far in convincing one of its reality. It will be remembered two years ago an Academy team nearly defeated the Maroon and White team at Kingston and police escorts were needed for McKeever, who was then the man that Kingstonites wished to "get," because as in the case of Cohen, he was regarded as a strong man in the game. It is that sort of spirit that has entered the Kingston team, the coach of the eleven, or the principal of the high school, or the superintendent of Kingston schools should look into the matter rather than allow the football team to ruin their schools sportsmanship reputation. Such postures and threats are certainly far from sportsmanlike.

The poster was largely responsible for Cohen's removal from the game. A player with an advertisement like that in his pocket is not likely to submit tamely when his opponents start to "rough house" him, and Cohen had the poster, but at that Kingston did not "get" him.

Admiral Vogelgesang

Rear Admiral Carl T. Vogelgesang, formerly Commandant at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, has been appointed head of the American Naval Commission going to Brazil to aid in reorganizing its naval forces.

The Pony Express.

Pony express was the name given to a mail service between St. Joseph, Mo., and San Francisco in 1860. At that time there was three transcontinental mail lines, but the greater part of the mail between the East and the far West was sent by way of Panama, in about 22 days. The demand for a more rapid service between the East and the West led to the establishment in the spring of 1860 of the famous "Pony Express" the mail being carried rapidly overland on horseback under the direction of the Central Overland California and Pike's Peak Express company.

Bees Seemingly Enjoy Intoxicants

There are bees and flowers whose mutual relations result in a curious phenomenon. On the single dahlias and gailardias of the garden bees are often to be seen in a manifold state, and these bees are more frequently of the black and yellow banded kind. If you take such a bee off the galliardia the insect will remain in your hand, nodding in quaint antics or simply trembling in every member. Presently, however, it will recover and fly off straight to another galliardia flower and in a very short time it is again in its former state of imbecility.—Exchange

Unfortunate in Her Beau.

I was fourteen, he was sixteen. He came to take me to a dance. My mother told him that I would be ready in ten minutes and to enjoy himself in the library. He said "Thank you." When I was ready and came down he was gone, also the silver candlesticks and a number of ornaments.—Chicago Journal

Clouds.

The sky was never empty and never was life, the clouds were continuously at play to our benefit. Over against us, from our station on the hills, we saw them piled and dissolved, condensed and shifted, blotting the blue with sultry rain-spots stretching, breeze-fretted, into dappled fields of gray, bursting into an explosion of light or melting into a drizzle of silver.—Henry James

SIGHT OF MONEY WON HIM

Prospector Refused $100,000 for Mine, but Sold for $10,000 Actual Gold Money.

Money's an odd sort of commodity and some persons know very little of actual cash from intimate acquaintance.

Harry Veness tells of an old sound-dough of the Klondike who had a valuable claim after several years of dangers and hardships in the North. He came to Seattle and operators who realized the value of his holdings had tried to buy him out for $100,000, but it was no use, the prospector held out. Then came the wise man who made the deal, and for one-tenth of that sum. The stage-managed proposition was worked like this:

The operators cornered their man on the main street and induced him to accompany them to a dark little office off Marion street. There they talked Alaska and mining until they thought they had their man in the proper frame of mind. They opened up the subject of a deal and he admitted he had been offered $100,000.

"And you'll never sell for that?" one said, and when the miner said "No" the would-be purchaser went to a table near by that was covered with a cloth and snatched the covering away. There, stacked in neat but careless appearing piles, was $10,000 in bright, new shiny $20 gold pieces.

"There's what we'll give you," shouted one of the operators as he saw the miner's eyes gleam. "You just sign the deed, and take the money."

And the miner, unused to money carried away by the sight of real coin, signed.—Portland Oregonian.

Swallows Cover World.

Swallows, it has been established by experiment, migrate from England to South Africa, 5,000 miles. A man in Berkshire, in 1921, fastened a mark on a swallow and turned it loose. The bird was reported as having been caught five months later at Jansenville, South Africa. Other marked swallows, liberated in England, have been reported from Natal, Orange Free State, Cape Province and the Transvaal.

Her Revised Grammar.

Teacher was endeavoring to make clear to the youngsters the grammatical tenses. "My father had money," she pointed out, "is in the past tense. Now, Grace, what tense would you be employing if you should say, 'My father has money?'" "That would be pretense," said Grace, very soberly.—Exchange

SPEEDED UP POSTAL SERVICE

First Exclusive Transportation of the Mail, in 1875, Was Watched With Intense Interest.

The first exclusive mail train was placed in service Sept. 18, 1875. Leaving New York, it arrived on schedule time in Chicago the following day, after a journey of twenty-six hours. Great interest was taken at that time in this all-postal train, which carried the western mail from New York to Chicago at a greater speed than any passenger train could command, and, furthermore delivered that mail at Chicago distributed and arranged for immediate dispatch to other lines, or for delivery by carrier to Chicago.

With the beginning of the year 1890 the mail between New York and San Francisco was also carried on fast trains, consuming less time than the fastest passenger train. Fast trains between Chicago and Omaha ran the more than 500 miles in less than ten hours. An important feature of the new service was that by which mail bags were caught without stopping the trains, and which brought even small towns the benefit of speedy service, the Detroit News states.

Blueberry Rapture.

Both these splendid varieties of berries (high and low growing), which are probably the best berry growing on bushes in the world, are a free gift of God to the people of New England. Beautiful in its white or slightly roseate flower, beautiful in leaf and habit, the bush is, of course, most lovely when laden down with its cerulean berries—large, round and plump, dusted over with a fine soft fuzz or bloom, and packed full almost to the point of bursting with a juice which is more delicious than any known nectar. The ripe, rich, woody flavor of the perfect New England blueberry is indescribable. In it are the perfume of the wild rose and of the clover; in matters of the palate the savor of the blueberry is precisely what the bell-like note of the woodthrush is in the domain of sound. Esthetically, as well as in habitat, the two are closely associated. Both sensations are ineffable, and quite without parallel in nature.—"Domand" in Boston Transcript.

"Red" Blood Corpuscles.

So-called "red" blood corpuscles are in reality straw color when seen singly, but when seen in masses they appear red and do give the blood its red color, bright red when full of oxygen—dark red, almost purple, when deprived of their oxygen, through tissue absorption.

SWAGGER SPORT COATS

Swagger topcoats that prove the permanence of the sport styles. They are man tailored along lines becoming to women and misses. They are beautifully made of plaid back materials and double face cloth of soft, nappy texture. For cool days—suitable and appropriate anywhere—good for school, shopping, motor-ing and for general use. Can be worn right up into the winter.

Priced $20.00 to $25.00

ADORABLE WINTER COATS

Wide varieties of style in fine deep piled fabrics and in many new fashions. Many of them boast a handsome fur collar. Smart coats, too, which make no use at all of fur but depend entirely on the silhouettes and unusual treatments of collars and sleeves for interest—and succeed.

Remarkable Values at $29 to $69.
